ILL HEALTH MAY FORCE HIM OUT

No Other Reason for Resignation of Postmaster General Payne.

PRESIDENT SATISFIED

Is in Entire Accord With His Lieutenant in Present Investigation.

THREE MORE INDICTMENTS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 25.

If Postmaster General Payne resigns from the cabinet it will be because of his ill health and not because of any friction between himself and President Roosevelt. There is not the slightest basis for the reports that the president is dissatisfied with the course of the postmaster general and has taken the reins of the investigation into his own hands. This statement is made upon the highest official authority.

The president and the members of his cabinet are mindful of the peculiar position in which Mr. Payne is placed in having to investigate conditions that were brought about under previous administrations of the department. But they are convinced that he is doing his best to work the needed reform and they are backing him up loyally. President Roosevelt has taken occasion to assure Mr. Payne that he is pleased with the manner in which the investigation has been conducted, and there is no intention on his part of taking the matter out of the postmaster general's hands.

It is the state of Mr. Payne's health that is worrying the president and all of the postmaster general's friends. Mr. Payne did not go to his office this morning, but came down later in the day. He is very nervous and the worry and strain that he has undergone in this matter has weakened him, and his friends fear that if the strain is not relaxed Mr. Payne will suffer a severe illness.

Former Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith is in the city and called at the postoffice department today to see Mr. Payne. It was stated that his business here was not in connection with the investigation, but that he might have something to say on the subject before leaving the city.

Attorney General Knox called at the White House today to present to the president Holmes Conrad of New York, one of the three attorneys appointed to prosecute the cases resulting from the postoffice investigation. Mr. Conrad talked with the president for a time and then returned to the department of justice with the attorney general, where the work that has been assigned to him was thoroughly gone over. Charles J. Bonaparte of Baltimore will be here tomorrow to see the president. He is the other attorney named to represent the government in the prosecution of the postoffice cases.

Senator Hanna will be here tomorrow, and a story comes from Cleveland that the possibility of Gen. Payne's resignation will be discussed in a conference the senator is to have with the president. They will also, it is expected, take up the question of the candidate for vice president, and the next national chairman.

L. W. STRAYER.

TOLEDO, O., June 25.—The preliminary hearings in the cases of the government against George B. Lorenz and his wife, Martha J. Lorenz, which was to have occurred this afternoon, was postponed until next Tuesday upon the motion of the attorney for the defense, on the ground that a copy of the indictment had not been furnished the defense.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The federal grand jury at Brooklyn today presented indictments against George F. Miller, general agent of the Brandt Automatic Cashier Company. The indictments charge Miller with aiding and abetting former Congressman Driggs in violating section 1781, of the United States revised statutes in paying money to Driggs. Miller was arraigned and withheld his plea pending examination of the indictment by his counsel. He gave bail in the sum of $25,000.

BALTIMORE, June 25.—In the United States district court here today indictments were formally presented against C. Ellsworth Upton and Thomas W. McGregor, employes in the postoffice department in Washington, for participation in the mail pouch frauds. The accused men are now under $5,000 bail.

Object to Metcalf's Removal.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 25.—The United Typothetae of America in convention here sent a delegation to Washington tonight to protest against the removal of Superintendent of the Money Order Division Metcalf, as they believe his dismissal to be unwarranted.

PRESIDENT PARDONS THREE FILIPINOS

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The president has pardoned three Filipinos. Pedro Abad Santos was convicted before a military commission of violation of the laws of war, and of mutiny and was sentenced to be hanged. Jose Atienza and Felix Atienza also were convicted before a military commission of murder and of being guerillas and were sentenced to be hanged.

These pardons were recommended by Gov. Taft, by the general commanding the division of the Philippines, and by the secretary of war, for the reason that the offenses grew out of the insurrection and were committed during it.

Murphy's Illness Contradicted.

A report that John B. Murphy, ex-recorder of Allegheny, was very ill at his cottage at Mt. Clemens, reached Allegheny yesterday. The report is contradicted by Joseph Ilenberger, who is in communication with Murphy. Ilenberger says he received a letter from the former recorder on Tuesday, and at that time Murphy was in good health. Murphy will likely stay at Mt. Clemens during the remainder of the summer.

TROUBLE IN ELEVENTH WARD

Citizens Party Factions in a Fight for Control of Committee.

IS MUCH BAD FEELING

Councilman Lamb Says William Hemingray Was Not Regularly Elected Chairman.

DEMOCRATS HAVE GRIEVANCE

Trouble is brewing in the Citizens party in the Eleventh ward. Several weeks ago William Hemingray was elected chairman of the committee. Councilman Harry Lamb says that the election was not regular and that another one should be held. W. J. Shore, Jr., a city employe and political partner of Lamb's, takes the same position.

In the primaries for the reorganization of the ward committee, held a month ago, Hemingray and others bunched their hits in an endeavor to wrest the leadership from Shore and Lamb. They claim to have been successful, saying that they elected 20 of the 30 committeemen. In the first district, where Shore lives, the Hemingray crowd says it defeated Shore. The latter claims that the district is contested. There is also a contest in the Seventh district. Lamb succeeded in securing membership on the committee.

Lamb said last night that he wants the committee called together and a new election held. "The meeting at which Hemingray was elected," said he, "was not regular. I am of the opinion that the new committee has never been organized and in order to restore harmony we should hold a new election. In the contested district, I have suggested that the contestants be seated as permanent members, each being given a half vote.

Too Many Bosses.

"I do not care who is elected chairman and have no candidate for the position. In our ward, like all others, we have too many leaders. Every man wants to be a leader. For the last three months I have been devoting myself to the interest of my constituents in an endeavor to get them jobs. Many of the men whom I have helped are now criticising me. They think that they should secure an appointment as soon as it is asked for."

The Hemingray faction does not take kindly to the scheme of holding a new election. They say that they whipped Shore and Lamb in a straight fight, Shore, Lamb and Dr. Stevenson are charged with wanting to run the ward, and the Hemingray faction says that they do not control the votes. Lamb is credited with wanting a nomination for select council next spring and the Hemingray organization is ready to fight him. Shore and Lamb are recognized at headquarters, and it may be that they will succeed in upsetting the election of Hemingray by an appeal to the county committee. In that event Hemingray and his friends are about ready to allow Shore and Lamb to run the Citizens party, and they will step back into the Republican party.

Citizens Are Disgusted.

The recent attempt of the Citizens leaders outside of the ward to dictate the election of school teachers has done much to inflame old citizens against the party. Under orders from the "front," as they call it in the Eleventh, Stevenson and his crowd tried to elect certain teachers. They were defeated all along the line. Stevenson is a city poor physician, and he has told people in the ward that he acted under orders from headquarters in his attempt to elect certain teachers.

The night the principal was chosen the vote of Director Ed. Gineff was wanted. He was recently elected to succeed his brother, Robert, who died in office. Robert Gineff was one of the strongest supporters the Citizens party had and his friends attribute his death to overwork in the February campaign. After his death the organization promised to have his widow appointed to a clerkship in the offices of County Recorder J. D. O'Neill. She is still waiting for the position. By a strange coincidence young Shore and several others in the organization selected the night that the school board was to elect a principal, to go to the Gineff home and present a handsomely bound set of resolutions lamenting the death of Robert Gineff. The widow was told that it had just been discovered that her application had not been presented to O'Neill. She was assured that vacancies were constantly occurring in the office and she would soon be appointed. Director Ed. Gineff did not vote for the Stevenson-Shore slate.

Democrats Are Angry.

The Democrats in the ward are angry. Under present conditions they will not join forces with the Citizens in future. In the councilmanic election next spring it is their intention to put up a separate ticket. They say that neither Councilmen Lamb nor Fitzpatrick will be on it. Fitzpatrick is just now being soundly criticised for having had his brother appointed to a position in the city treasurer's office. The Democrats had a good worker slated for the place.

The Citizens who are opposed to Lamb and Shore say that they have secured inside information at headquarters and used it to their own advantage and to the detriment of the organization generally. The charge is made against Shore that he pretends to boss the ward when he cannot carry his own district. Lamb is credited with having more influence than Shore.

While Lamb claims that he does not have any candidate for ward chairman, he and Shore are credited with wanting to elect either Dr. Burns or Dr. Phillips. The latter was the last chairman, and according to Lamb, is really the legal head of the organization now.

FATHER PITT WANTS TO KNOW.

SOME ONE SQUEEZED IN COLORADO FUEL

All Sorts of Rumors in New York About the Resignation of Mr. Osgood.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 25.—With the resignation of John C. Osgood as chairman of the board of directors of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company comes a new flood of gossip, most of which is not quite in line with the formal statement.

Casual theorists advocated the idea some time ago that it looked as if someone were gunning for someone else, but it was disregarded temporarily. Now, however, it finds more favor. It has been known that an interest identified with the company was in serious straits recently. The slump accentuated the difficulty of his position, and a compromise, under duress, may have resulted.

An interest recently active in fuel affairs was asked today the reasons for Osgood's resignation. He said:

"The Colorado Fuel and Iron is, or was, not in need of actual working capital. Neither was there any chance of those notes being protested through lack of funds. However, it is true that money is needed to carry out the extensive plans for improvements. Interests that gained control of the company at the meeting yesterday had the necessary money and now they have the plants."

FREIGHT WRECKS CAR; FIFTEEN ARE INJURED

Pittsburgh Woman Is Among Victims of Serious Accident at Huntington, W. Va.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., June 26.—At 1 o'clock this morning a C. & P. freight train ran into a Camden Interstate electric car well filled with passengers in the western limits of the city. Fifteen people are injured.

Charles J. Armstrong of Cincinnati is fatally hurt, he having both legs severed.

Others injured are: Mrs. Lou Schafner of Pittsburgh; George Fahrlander, Columbus; Mrs. Lew Schuler, Martha Staley, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Chas. Ellegar, Frank Marshall, Mrs. W. M. Smith, Miss Jessie Stewart and William Schuler, all of Huntington.

The street car was badly wrecked, landing upside down almost 20 feet away.

NEGRO IS LYNCHED BY FIFTEEN MEN

CLARENDON, ARK., June 25.—(Special.)—Jack Harris, a negro, was hanged to the rafters of the porch of the American Cotton Company's office this morning by a mob of 15 masked men. Last Sunday night the negro viciously assaulted John Coburn, a planter living about miles east of Clarendon, breaking one of his arms and inflicting numerous other wounds about his body.

TEXAS YOUNG WOMAN ATTACKS KENTUCKIAN AND IS FATALLY SHOT

He Charges That Girl and Father Alienated the Affections of His Wife.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Winchester, Ky., June 25.—Miss Margie Miller lies at the point of death from a pistol shot through her body and her brother-in-law, C. Lee Wainscott, is under arrest, charged with the crime.

Some weeks ago D. M. Miller and daughter, Miss Margie, came here from Waco, Texas, upon invitation of Mr. Wainscott, who married a daughter of Miller. Shortly after their arrival Wainscott claims they began systematically attempts to alienate the affections of his wife, and had partially succeeded.

About 7 o'clock tonight Wainscott went home, and seeing his wife on the porch attempted to kiss her, when he was attacked by Miller and his daughter Margie. The former had a knife and the latter a big stick. After being severely bruised he drew his pistol and fired, the bullet striking Miss Miller above the heart and passing through the body, inflicting a wound that will probably prove fatal.

Wainscott at once telephoned to the sheriff, who placed him under arrest. He is a wealthy manufacturer, a prominent Elk, a member of the city council, and one of the most popular young men in the city.

GOOD PLACE FOR CAPITAL.

Street Car Syndicate's Representative Talks of Opportunities in Philippines.

NEW YORK, June 25.—(Special.)—A. Gordon Murray, who represents the Swift-Westinghouse street railway syndicate, has successfully completed a deal for a street railway franchise in Manila. He is in New York, having just arrived from the Philippines.

"This will be the first material American investment in the Philippines," he said. "There are remarkable opportunities throughout the islands for capital. Everything wanted must be American, and as long as this country is not foolishly divided on the question of foreign possessions, capital will be absolutely safe.

"There will be about 40 miles of track in the new road, and the cost will approximate $3,500,000. We purchased the horse lines now in operation."

New Steerable Balloon on Trial.

PARIS, June 25.—(Copyright Cable.)—A steerable balloon belonging to Paul and Pierre Lebaudy is being tried daily at Moisson. On Wednesday a particularly interesting experiment was made, when a trip was taken over a previously marked out route.

CITY MARSHAL KILLS MURDERER OF DEPUTY

Theft of Razors from Barber Shop Causes the Usual Kentucky Affair.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OLIVE HILL, KY., June 25.—Two men are dead as a result of a bloody street fight today. The trouble started over a trivial matter. Everett Beatty was charged with the theft of razors from Demeran's barber shop, and a warrant for his arrest was placed in the hands of Deputy City Marshal Hall. Beatty heard that Hall had the warrant, and armed himself with a double-barreled shot gun.

Hall went to Beatty's boarding house and asked for him. Beatty refused to leave the house, and Hall talked with him through a window for a time.

Finally Hall tried to jump in through a window to capture him. As he did so, Beatty fired both barrels of his gun, killing Hall instantly.

Beatty re-loaded his gun and ran out into the street just in time to meet City Marshal White, who had heard the report of the gun which killed Hall, and ran to the aid of his assistant. White drew a revolver while on the run, and before Beatty could get his shot gun in position, fired, killing him instantly.

TEN-YEAR-OLD CHILD IS TORTURED TO DEATH

Suspended to Tree in Sack and Fire Built Beneath by Step-Mother.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW ORLEANS, June 25.—Sheriff Schlasen of Iberia Parish arrived at New Iberia tonight from Derouen, a small hamlet, with Mary Patterson under arrest.

It is charged that she became enraged at her step-child, a little girl of 10 years, and after beating her, tied her in a corn sack and suspended her to a limb of a tree. Making a fire beneath the limb of the tree, pepper was thrown in the fire to intensify the heat and smoke.

The child was suffocated with the fumes of pepper. The sack caught fire, and the lifeless body fell out, burned to a crisp. The mother is in jail.

FORM NEW COMPANY.

Pittsburghers Members of Concern to Run Old Continental Iron Works.

SHARON, PA., June 25.—(Special.)—The Shenango Iron and Steel Company has been organized by Sharon, Pittsburgh and Youngstown capitalists and will operate the Continental iron works at Wheatland, recently sold at public auction for $40,000. Application for a charter will be made at Harrisburg on July 18 and the capital stock will be $200,000. The company is composed of the Hon. Samuel McClure of Sharon, D. Leet Wilson of Pittsburgh, A. W. Herron of Pittsburgh and Mason Evans of Youngstown.

The company will expend a large sum of money in modernizing the plant and a finishing mill will be erected which will greatly increase the capacity of the works.

AMMONIA TANK EXPLODED.

Several Brewery Workmen Seriously Hurt in Chicago as the Result.

CHICAGO, June 25.—An explosion of ammonia gas in the Chicago brewery early today wrecked the building and resulted in a fatal injury to Charles Brunke, the night brewer, and serious injuries to Charles Howard, night engineer, and Frank Fisher, night fireman. The property damage is estimated at $15,000.

Fisher was found unconscious in an alley nearly a block away from the building where he was thrown by the force of the explosion. Several firemen were overcome by the fumes of ammonia.

JOHN FARSON IS IN PITTSBURGH; HASN'T FOUND $1,000,000 SERVANT

John Farson, the Chicago capitalist who gained added prominence a few weeks since by offering $1,000,000 for the ideal house servant, has transferred the servant girl problem to a committee of astute Chicagoans, and, with his associate partner, A. L. Leach of New York, is sojourning in Pittsburgh. Both are at the Hotel Duquesne. Their mission here is to interest local millionaires in a syndicate they are forming to take up $20,000,000 of a bond issue of Havana, Cuba.

Mr. Farson's offer for a servant still holds good, he says. Thousands of replies have been received, but the lucky domestic still may be heard from. He appreciates the task he has undertaken, and declares that if he succeeds in getting the ideal, he will have accomplished something that has perplexed the world's housekeepers since the days that Adam and Eve were compelled to prepare their first cold breakfast just outside of Eden. If he succeeds he will feel that he is one of the world's greatest explorers and entitled to a double space in "Who's Who." If he fails—but no man from the Windy City ever discussed failure—not even in the matter of finding mistresses of the kitchen ceremonies.

Down in Havana the Cubans have plans for making their city one of the most attractive American municipalities. They expect to improve their streets, build new sewers, erect a model water plant and put in new electric lights. It's a good investment for Uncle Sam's dollars, so Mr. Farson thinks, and he is sanguine of getting recruits for his syndicate from this city. He says the moneyed men in the west are little affected by the fluctuations of Wall street, and when the labor situation has become steady that the whole country will settle down for the enjoyment of the most prosperous era the United States has ever known.

NEGRO IS KILLED IN RACE RIOTING IN WILMINGTON

Two Policemen Are Shot in Attempt to Stop Parade of Blacks Through City Streets, but Only Slightly Hurt.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wilmington, Del., June 26.—In a race riot early this morning two policemen were shot by negroes, neither of them being seriously hurt, and one negro is dead. Sergt. Eugene McDermott and Patrolman Green were the men injured.

A negro, James Mercer, was shot by a white man in a fight. Negroes were parading through Ninth street, carrying clubs and shouting defiance at the whites, in some instances elbowing men off the sidewalk and handling them roughly.

The entire police force of the city was patrolling this street with special orders to prevent the collection of mobs and keep everybody moving. Police Captain Evans was sent to disband the procession.

As soon as the attempt was made shots were fired. McDermott and Green both received flesh wounds. After firing the shots the negroes turned and ran. The police arrested Leander Moore and Joseph F. Shockley, both negroes. Revolvers were found in their possession.

The autopsy in the case of Peter Smith shows that he was killed by a 44-caliber bullet, presumably from one of the rifles of the workhouse guards, on the night of the lynching.

Arthur Cornell of Indiana, who was arrested in connection with the lynching of George F. White for the murder of Miss Helen Bishop, will be given a hearing today. The charge of murder will be changed to that of manslaughter. Cornell's bond of $5,000 has been renewed.

The situation in this city was so serious last night that Gov. Hunn deemed it best to call a meeting of the judiciary today to canvass the situation. A two-hour conference was held at the court house, but what was discussed and what plans, if any were decided upon was not made public. Those who participated in the conference were Gov. Hunn, Chief Justice Lore, Associate Judges Grubb Spruance, Attorney General H. H. Ward, Deputy Attorney General Robert H. Richards, Mayor Fisher, City Solicitor David B. Reinhardt and members of the board of police commissioners. After the conference was over those who participated in it said that the conference was a strictly private one.

In an interview Gov. Hunn said: "Conditions at Wilmington are a great humiliation to the entire state. I have come here against my physician's orders to get a grasp on the situation. The way things have progressed is most serious; what has been done so far by them I do not think could have been prevented by the authorities, but a halt must be called instantly.

"After hearing of the mob's work in forcing the release of a prisoner, I felt that I could not stand aside any longer. The fair name of Delaware has been dragged in the mire. It was no ordinary mob that released the man who murdered Miss Bishop. The crowd seemed to have been composed of good citizens. The effect of their work has been disastrous. The law must now be sustained at any cost. I have not yet decided whether or not troops will be called out. I trust that will not be necessary, for the whole power of the state will be used to protect its officers in the discharge of their duties."

Referring to the fact that George White previously had a criminal record of over four years in a Pennsylvania state penitentiary for criminal assault, the Rev. Dr. W. A. Bishop, father of the murdered girl, authorized the following statement:

"I notice that a Philadelphia newspaper holds up its hands in horror and says that such a deed as this (the lynching) would not have happened in Pennsylvania. They should remember that if White had received the same treatment in Pennsylvania for his first offense of this kind as he would have received under Delaware law, hanging, he would never have lived to commit the second offense."

Five cows, the property of the Ferris Industrial school near this city, have been poisoned in a mysterious manner. Whether the poisoning has any connection with the series of tragedies which has been startling this community is not known.

The Ferris school is about 400 yards from where the negro, White, was burned at the stake early on Tuesday morning, and the superintendent, Rev. Dr. E. A. Bishop, is the father of Miss Helen E. Bishop, the girl who was murdered by the negro.

PATTISON IS AGAINST CLEVELAND

Former Governor Says Third Term Objection Would Cause Defeat.

CAN'T BE NOMINATED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Newark, N. J., June 25.—The Newark Evening News today publishes an interview with ex-Gov. Robert E. Pattison, in which he says:

"Mr. Cleveland would make a very weak candidate; in fact, there is hardly any condition, however favorable, under which Mr. Cleveland could be elected, even though he received the nomination, which is impossible.

"I have but one reason for saying this, and it is that the people of this country will not give any man a third term at this time, and it is to be hoped they never will. That is my sole objection to Grover Cleveland.

"I have not the least doubt that Mr. Cleveland will express himself in no uncertain language when the time comes. The third-term principle cannot be eliminated, and were Mr. Cleveland a candidate in defiance of this fact, it would be such an important factor in the campaign that it would certainly end to his defeat."

LITTLE GIRL BURIED ALIVE IN A DITCH

Siding Fell in, Carrying Maggie Schwartz With It — Body Found This Morning.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Maggie Schwartz, a 7-year-old daughter of Joseph Schwartz of No. 108 Market street, McKeesport, has been cleared. The girl was buried alive. Her body was recovered at 12:30 o'clock this morning by men digging near the place where she was buried.

The girl was missed about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It was thought she had fallen in a ditch at the foot of Market street by the Monongahela river, as she was playing near it when seen last. Shortly after that several tons of earth loosened by the recent rains fell from the sides of the ditch and covered many feet of it. The ditch was 10 feet deep and 20 feet long, and was dug to fix a sewer connection.

While the men were working this morning they came across the extended arm of the little one. The debris was raised, and the girl was found. Officer James O'Neal entered the ditch and lifted the girl's body out. Her mother is prostrated. The dead girl had a brother and a sister.

PRESIDENT WILL SEND PETITION

Czar to Officially Learn of World's Disapproval of Kishineff Affair.

IT MAY BE REFUSED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 10, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 25.

President Roosevelt will forward to the Russian government the B'nai B'rith's petition of protest against the recent cruelties to Hebrews in Kishineff.

The question now is "will Russia regard this as an unwarranted interference in her domestic affairs and resent it?" Opinions vary. Certain it is that President Roosevelt has treated lightly the long standing rule of diplomatic usage that one nation shall not interfere with the internal administration of another.

Before the Hebrew executive committee called on President Roosevelt an unofficial intimation was given out from a high Russian source that any protest from the United States to the czar on the subject would be resented and would reflect no good for the people who had been oppressed. The knowledge of the source from which this intimation came and the belief that it reflected accurately the Russian government's attitude has led some persons here to express the belief that the St. Petersburg government will refuse to receive the petition.

Here is the tentative draft of the petition:

To His Imperial Majesty, the Czar:

The cruel outrages perpetrated at Kishineff during Easter of 1903 have excited horror and reprobation throughout the world. Until your majesty gave special and personal directions the local authorities failed to maintain order or suppress violence. The victims were Hebrews and the assault was the result of race and religious prejudice.

The rioters blamed the Jews of Russia. The local officials were derelict in the performance of their duty. The Hebrews were the victims of indefensible lawlessness. These facts are made plain by the official reports of and by the official acts following the riot.

Under ordinary conditions the awful calamity would be deplored without undue fear of recurrence. But such is not the case in the present instance. Your petitioners are advised that millions of Hebrews—Russian subjects—dwelling in southwestern Russia, are in constant dread of fresh outbreaks.

If there is to be a refusal on the part of the Russian government to receive the Jewish petition, then upon Mr. Riddle, the United States charge of embassy at St. Petersburg, will fall the unwelcome duty of informing Mr. Carmack has not yet returned to his post from his family in Chicago, and it is entirely possible that what happens at St. Petersburg when Mr. Riddle undertakes his disagreeable task may delay the Ambassador's return to St. Petersburg indefinitely. Of course, in such case Count Cassini, who is sailing a week from today for Russia, will make a correspondingly long stay in Washington.

PITTSBURGHERS IN A WILDERNESS

Thousands of Miles from Home, They Clasp Hands as They Pass By.

NEEDS OF THE NICARAGUANS

President Zelaya Wants Americans to Develop His Country—Attorney J. Rogers Flannery Returns Home After Eventful Journey in the Tropics.

There is no part of the world so remote that you cannot find a Pittsburgher. When two white men meet in a wild country, it is even money that both are Pittsburghers.

Attorney J. Rogers Flannery, son of Undertaker J. J. Flannery, had been traveling for eight days on the Coco river, Nicaragua, paddled by Indians, and he was hungry for the sight of a white face.

Flannery was two days from the village of Bocay when he saw coming up stream a canoe poled by 10 Indians. In the stern sat a white man. Flannery shouted across the water: "Can you speak English?"

In answer to an imperceptible signal from their master the 10 Indians held their poles in the water and the strange canoe stopped.

"Sure," replied the white man. "Of course I speak English."

Mr. Flannery ordered his Indians to pull over to the canoe, and he and the stranger talked for a half hour. Just as they were about to part Flannery asked the man where he came from.

Of Course He Was.

"I'm from Pittsburgh," he replied. "My name's Dalton and I work for James Rees Sons Company, steamboat builders."

"I'm from Pittsburgh, too," said Flannery, with delight, "and just the day before I left Pittsburgh I was in your company's office."

Then the two men shook hands and parted.

"I don't know Dalton's home address," said Mr. Flannery, "but I can say for the benefit of any relatives or friends he may have here, that he was in fine health when I met him. It was on June 3. He was then two days' journey by canoe from Bocay."

Attorney Flannery went to Nicaragua for several Pittsburgh capitalists to look after some government concessions and to ascertain the prospect for the establishment of certain industries. He left Pittsburgh on March 20, and returned on June 24. He said last night:

Chance for Capitalists.

"While I was in Nicaragua it was said that a revolution was in progress," said Mr. Flannery, "although I saw nothing of it. The country is, I think, on the eve of great industrial awakening. It is rich in minerals and valuable timber. It grows some of the finest coffee in the world. Land is the land on which a thousand fold that quantity can be grown. At present there is only one railroad in the country, 90 miles long, up in the northwestern part, on the Pacific slope, but there is talk of letting after a concession for another railroad. I think that a concession will soon be granted to one of the parties. The railroad intended to be built will run from Matacalpa to Leon, to connect with the railroad now being operated between Corinto and Grenada on Lake Nicaragua.

"Matacalpa is the coffee-raising center, and nearly all the planters there are Americans. I spent very little time in the Atlantic coast, where nearly all the inhabitants are Americans, Englishmen and Indians. The Nicaraguans all seem to live on the Pacific slope, where the capital is.

Introduced to President.

"A former schoolmate of mine, John Deshon, a Nicaraguan, presented me to the president of Nicaragua, Santos Zelaya, at the capital, Managua. I had a talk with Mr. Zelaya. He speaks good English, and only occasionally did Mr. Deshon have to interpret what I said, although he had to interpret all that the president said to me, as the president preferred to speak in Spanish. President Zelaya is a fine-looking man, quite tall for a Nicaraguan. He is an interesting man and would like to see his country developed. He wants foreigners with capital to come in, especially Americans, of whom he seems to think a great deal. All his conversation related to the development of the country, the establishment of agricultural, mining and manufacturing industries.

"The president and the people of Nicaragua are much disappointed over the failure of the United States to build the Nicaragua instead of the Panama canal. Everybody down there thinks that a mistake will be made if the project to put through the Panama canal is carried out, and they do not understand why the treaty negotiated between the United States prefer the Panama route, when the Walker commission reported in favor of the Nicaragua route. I think myself that if the Panama canal is prosecuted the climate will cost the lives of thousands of Americans, while the route of the Nicaragua canal passes through a comparatively healthy zone."

Trials of a Traveler.

Mr. Flannery went from New York to Colon, crossed the isthmus of Panama by rail to Panama and traveled from Panama to Corinto, on the west coast of Nicaragua, on a Pacific Mail steamship. From Corinto he went by rail to Chinandega, where he went to Leon, and from there to Managua, where he saw the president. From Managua he retraced his route to Pasoltega, and there he embarked on a mule.

It took eight days of that kind of travel to reach the headwaters of the Coco river at Santa Cruz. Here he met Otto Lehman, a German trader and with him he took canoes and Indian canoeists and went to Bocay. From this point on he traveled toward the Atlantic coast, spending eight days in the canoe with nobody but his four Indian paddlers.

On arriving at Cabo di Gracias a Dios, on the Atlantic coast, Mr. Flannery hired a 25-foot sloop, manned by Mosquito coast Indians, to journey to Bluefields, to catch a steamer. Ordinarily the voyage takes two days, but it was seven before he gained Bluefields. The current carried the sloop out of its route during a period of calm and no wind lasting several days. For one day the crew were without water, but towards evening they sighted and landed on a coral reef and drank the milk from the cocoanuts growing there and took a stock of nuts along. On the last day there had nothing but soda crackers to eat and the milk from the cocoanuts to drink. That evening a bark sailed by and Flannery went aboard and got into Bluefields that night. His Indians arrived the next morning with his baggage.

Amalgamated Men at Work in Youngstown Mill Under New Scale.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 25.—(Special.)—For the first time since the continuous clause of the Amalgamated association scale went into effect, two years ago, it has been called into play. The association committee and the Youngstown Iron Sheet and Tube Company were unable to agree on the skelp mill scale, while they agreed on the puddling and sheet mill scales. These were assigned, but the others were held in abeyance.

The mill will be operated under the continuous agreement until after the new machinery in the skelp mill has shown its exact output, when another conference will be called. Heretofore the scales have all been signed up before July 1.

MAY CHANGE THE SCALE.

Boiler Makers Met to Consider Plan to End Strike.

The Brotherhood of Boiler Makers and Iron Ship Builders held a meeting last night in the Building Trades council hall, No. 225 Fourth avenue, to consider some plan whereby their strike may be brought to a determination. The executive committee has been in session all day trying to arrive at some conclusion, but has been unable to accept a compromise. It requires a vote of the local before any change can be made in the scale.

During the past few days the manufacturers have secured men to take the place of the strikers. The boiler makers came out May 1, for eight hours at $4 a day. The manufacturers agreed a to compromise by giving the men $3.40 for an eight-hour day, or $2.75 for a nine-hour day. The executive committee had to refuse it because of its limited authority.

SAD DROWNING OF LITTLE BOY

Neville Island Family Distressed by Sorrowful Accident Last Night.

EIGHT CASES FOR CORONER

Mystery About Death of a Man Found in a Ditch—Woman Died at Hospital from Headache Powder—Other Fatalities.

While playing on the banks of the Ohio river, near his home on Neville island, little Walter Allen, 3 years old, fell into the water and was swept away and drowned. The accident occurred about 7 o'clock last evening and was witnessed by several of the little fellow's playmates. They ran and gave the alarm and an unsuccessful effort, lasting far into the night, was made to recover the body. The boy was a son of Howard Allen, a mechanical engineer living in Grandview avenue, Neville island.

Walter Allen, Robert Miller and two other small boys were throwing sticks in the water and watching them float away. Allen tossed a stick in the river and it fell near the bank. He tried to get it for the purpose of tossing it farther out in the water. In reaching for it he lost his balance and fell in. The current swept him away in an instant.

Mystery About This Death.

There is some mystery connected with the death of J. M. Powell, 50 years old, of Altoona, who was found dead yesterday morning in a ditch, half filled with water, along the tracks of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, near Heidelberg station. A post mortem examination at the morgue last night, showed that the man had been drowned. Whether he was taken ill and fell in the ditch in a fainting spell, or whether he was knocked there by a train is not known. The man had heart disease, and was also suffering with the preliminary effects of typhoid fever.

Powell was identified by some letters found in his pockets. There was a slight cut on his left temple, and three ribs were broken on the left side. The autopsy showed his stomach and lungs to be filled with water. Dr. Walter C. McCandless is of the opinion the man was seized with a fainting spell while walking along the road and fell in the ditch and was drowned while in an unconscious condition.

Powell came here from Jersey about three months ago, and has been working here since then. He is survived by his widow and two sons, one of whom is employed in the mills at Braddock. The body will be sent to Altoona this morning. Powell had been a railroad man all his life. Mrs. Powell was in Altoona yesterday visiting some of her old friends. Word was received from her last night.

His body was found by the crew of the engine. He was a son of A. R. McConnell, the flour and feed dealer.

Frank Rosky, 35 years old, of No. 846 Chestnut street, Allegheny, a laborer in the Twentieth street power station of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, was smothered to death during Wednesday night, while at work. The furnaces at this station are fed by a chute. Rosky is thought to have been under the trap when the coal dropped on him, crushing and smothering him.

The general committee of the Methodist Protestant, Congregational and United Brethren denominations will meet here next Wednesday to hear the report of the committee appointed to recommend a plan for a union of these denominations. BURNING CAR OF POWDER HAULED FROM REST OF TRAIN BY BRAVE ENGINEER

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., June 25.—Engineer G. A. Duval of a local freight train on the Ohio river division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad risked his life this evening to save the lives of the rest of the crew and to prevent his train from being blown up. A car loaded with powder and next to the engine caught fire.

Seeing the burning car and knowing what it contained, the brave engineer coolly stopped his train, had the brakeman cut the train off behind the powder and then ran ahead a mile with the burning car, leaving it a safe distance from the rest of the train, and took his engine away in time to escape the explosion which followed. Only slight damage was done to the train or track, but the car was blown to splinters. That no one was hurt was due to Engineer Duval's presence of mind and grit.

RACE MUST NOT TALK SAYS A NEGRO ELDER

Negro Preacher Refuses to Allow Discussion of Lynchings at His Service.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PEORIA, ILL., June 25.—A special grand jury was called today to consider the case of John McCrary, who killed Detective William B. Murphy, and a special term of court will be convened to try him. McCrary was hanged in effigy in the court house square today. The court house janitor cut down the figure at daylight. The inquest was begun today and several people were examined. The evidence indicated a deliberate murder.

Elder J. E. Wilkinson of the African Methodist Episcopal church last night shut off without ceremony a discussion of the Belleville lynching and the Peoria murder at his prayer service. A woman referred to the subject, but the elder told her to stop.

He deprecated the acts of McCrary and expressed hope of speedy justice. He said the blacks must observe the laws and keep their mouths closed at the same time, and that the laws must be enforced without partiality.

SAVED BY HIS CAT.

Faithful Feline Arouses Master When the Building Was Burning.

About 2 o'clock this morning fire broke out in his store. He occupies the second story and was not aware of the fire until the cat, which he kept in his room, awakened him by rubbing its paw over his face.

Barnett had a narrow escape, as his egress from the building was cut off and he was obliged to descend from a second story window. The Farmers' building was destroyed as well as the Methodist Protestant church. Other dwellings near by were badly damaged. The loss will amount to about $20,000, partly covered by insurance.

Larkin will make an investigation, and if he finds Wallace disqualified to serve he will refuse to honor a warrant for his pay.

SHOOTING IN PENN AVENUE.

An Exciting Episode in a Pool Room Attracted a Great Crowd.

Where they crowded around the building, blocking the street cars and causing much disorder. The men arrested were John E. McGovern, Michael Larkin and Felix Nowack. Nowark had charge of the pool room.

Larkin and McGovern started to make trouble for the other people in the room and Nowack tried to control them. Both men turned on him and beat him. Nowack rushed up stairs and locked himself in a room. Larkin and McGovern tried to break in the room and Nowack shot at them. The shooting attracted Lieutenant Milton Bailey and Officers Battle Keys and August Moss. Larkin and McGovern attempted to escape and were only captured after a two square chase. The crowd took up the chase and followed the officers and the prisoners to the station house.

MAY GET SUPERSEDEAS.

Court Disposed to Continue Collector Conner in Office.

A continuance of the hearing of the petition of Samuel P. Conner that his appeal to the supreme court act as a supersedeas, was taken up in common pleas court No. 2 yesterday in order to determine the amount of the bond to be filed by Conner.

The entire bench of the court was present at the hearing and the court seemed to be willing to grant the petition. The only matter standing in the way of such a decision was the absence of accurate data relative to the receipts of the office since March 1. The attorneys suggested that the same might be computed, comparing the receipts of the past three years, and they were instructed to get these figures, prepare a bond acceptable to both sides and the matter will be taken up again tomorrow morning.

STABBING AFFRAY IN BRADDOCK LAST NIGHT

Cyrus Masters, a White Man, Cruelly Slashed by Thomas Smith, a Drunken Negro.

Cyrus Masters, 24 years old, of Corey avenue, Braddock, was perhaps fatally stabbed by Thomas Smith, colored, at Corey and Braddock avenues, at 11:45 last night. Masters and three young men were returning from a serenade and had stopped to play a last melody on their guitars. Smith and two other negroes, attracted by the music, drew near, and then Masters said: "Come on, let's go home."

Smith had been drinking and his companions say he took the remark to be directed at him. Magnifying the fancied insult Smith drew a long knife and cried out: "I'll show you!" He rushed upon Masters and thrust at him twice.

The first sweep of the knife severed Master's left ear, and gashed his face and neck downward for five inches, just missing the jugular vein. The second cut was under the chin, deeply ploughing from ear to ear. Masters fell at the feet of Smith, who wrested himself loose from the men who had pounced on him, and ran swiftly off in the darkness. He was pursued by a newcomer on the scene, Patrolman George Young, who raced Smith to Wood alley, between Seventh and Eighth streets, where Young drew his revolver and fired four times without effect. As the shots were fired the frightened negro called out that he would give up. Young seized and handcuffed him then without resistance. Smith was taken to the lockup and a charge of felonious assault with intent to kill entered against him. He is 20 years old and is a porter in the saloon of Frederick Oppenheim.

Sheriff and Deputies Sent to Assist Police at Harbison-Walker Plant.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., June 25.—(Special.)—The strike situation at Blandburg, this county, where the Harbison-Walker Brick Company operates a large plant, is growing serious. Today Sheriff Davis and deputies were hurriedly commanded there, although early this week the company had imported 20 coal and iron police from Allegheny county.

Blandburg is isolated by reason of there being no direct telephone service. Hence information of the situation is difficult to obtain. A message tonight from Ebensburg says it is feared the sheriff and his deputies have found an ugly condition, because they had not yet returned from the strike scene.

"We deny that the company is being run in the interest of any clique," said Mr. Hayes.

"There are about 20 mills in the whole country and we have control of 14 of them. All our mills but three are running. The company is in a more flourishing condition than it has been at any time since its organization."

The father made information against his son on Wednesday, and the young man was arrested and spent the night in the police station. The parent did not appear, and Magistrate James Kane ordered his arrest as a witness.

Pittsburgh Young Woman in Distress.

CLEVELAND, June 25.—(Special.)—Miss Mary Walters of Pittsburgh walked the streets all day in search of her mother, Mrs. Louise Naughton, who had come to Cleveland a week ago to live. Mrs. Naughton was to have met her daughter at the "Bell" block in Woodland avenue. No such block could be found, and late Wednesday night Miss Walters, worn out and almost penniless, appealed to Police Lieut. McKinney for assistance. She was given shelter at the Bethel.

END ALMOST IN SIGHT FOR BLUE LAW CRUSADE

Wilkinsburg Druegists Made a Canvass to Find Who Opposes Sunday Soda Water.

Wilkinsburg soda fountains will no longer be kept closed on Sundays if the druggists find that the majority of the residents favor the sale of the beverage on that day. To decide the question the druggists are making a thorough canvass of the borough, and every citizen's opinion is solicited. It is believed that the majority will vote for Sunday sodas, and in this case the blue laws will be ignored next week. The "committee of twelve," it is stated, will take no further action if it is proved that the anti-soda water element is in the minority.

The druggists object to the statement that the enforcing of the blue laws is the outcome of a contention between themselves and the churches. They say that several ministers in the town have bought soda on Sundays, and hold that they can do so conscientiously.

STATUE UNVEILED.

Memorial to the Late Gen. Joseph Hooker Dedicated in Boston.

BOSTON, June 25.—The equestrian statue of Gen. Joseph Hooker, erected upon the grounds of the state house here, was dedicated today. Preceding the unveiling ceremonies a great parade was held in which scores of the most distinguished military men of America participated, together with regular army, cavalry and infantry, marines and blue jackets from the coast division of the North Atlantic squadron, sent here for the day.

The unveiling exercises were very brief, opening with a selection by a band. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. Arthur Little of Dorchester. Lieut. Gov. Curtis Guild, jr., then delivered the memorial to the state. Master Joseph Hooker Wood, grand nephew of Gen. Hooker, pulled the cord which released the veil and as the curtain fell, Battery A, stationed on the common, fired a major general's salute of 15 guns. Gov. John L. Bates accepted the custody of the statue for the commonwealth.

The wreck was caused by the baggage car leaving the track and plunging into the ditch. Spreading rails was probably the cause.

POLICE INSTRUCTED AS TO THEIR DUTIES

Director Harry Moore and Superintendent McClighe had the inspectors, captains and lieutenants of the police force before them yesterday morning instructing them as to their duties and what was expected of them. Director Moore told them since the change in the administration there had been many changes in the personnel of the force. At the time the weeding out process had been completed he wanted the men to settle down to their work. He reminded them that Mayor Hays had promised the people a better government and he wanted the officers to carry out that pledge by suppressing evil in every form.

Mayor Tells of Conference on Pennsylvania Railroad Ordinances Last Monday.

LEADERS MADE AN AGREEMENT

Measures Were to Be Submitted to Committee of Five Acting With City Solicitor—Mayor Says Director Bigelow Violated His Word.

Mayor Hays and Director Bigelow are still at war. Mayor Hays yesterday confirmed the statements published concerning Bigelow's attempt to trick him, and their contest for the control of councils. The mayor said the director violated his word.

Unless he changes his attitude Director Bigelow will be entirely ignored by the administration, pending the settlement of the Pennsylvania railroad ordinances squabble. Mayor Hays very frankly told of the conference last Monday, and the agreement reached, to submit the ordinances to a committee of five in conjunction with the city solicitor.

"In that conference," said Mayor Hays, "were Murry A. Verner, City Solicitor W. B. Rodgers, City Clerk E. W. Hassler, Thomas S. Bigelow, E. M. Bigelow and myself. We met at 1 o'clock and agreed to submit the ordinances to a committee of five acting with Mr. Rodgers. I told them that unless this was done and amendments were made protecting the city from damages and fixing a time for the removal of the tracks in Liberty avenue, I would veto the ordinances.

Might Have Averted Trouble.

"I saw a dozen or 15 councilmen and told them what we had decided upon, and asked them to vote for the motion to submit the ordinances, to be made by Councilman Beckert. And I want to say that if this had been done there would have been no trouble.

"About a quarter after 5 o'clock I heard that somebody had shifted and that an effort was being made to force the ordinances as they were through councils that night. Then I called up as many councilmen as I could and asked them to stand by what we had agreed to in our conference. I also called up Mr. Verner and Mr. Rodgers, but neither of them had heard of the shift.

"Is it true that there is a contest between you and Director Bigelow for the control of councils?" the mayor was asked.

Went Back on Agreement.

"Only that so far that we had all reached an agreement and then Mr. Bigelow went back on his agreement and went around afterward and tried to get votes to put through the ordinance that night."

"What does Director Bigelow want done with the ordinances now?"

"Well, I don't know what he wants. After agreeing to submit the ordinances and then trying to have something else done with them, it is hard to tell what he wants. And I have not asked him. But he told me this morning that he had submitted the ordinances to City Solicitor Rodgers. That was the first I knew of it."

"What was the reason the corporations committee of councils failed to meet last night when it was called to meet to consider these ordinances?"

"I don't know. I had nothing to do with that meeting, either for or against it."

"What will be the next step with regard to these ordinances?"

Up to City Solicitor.

"If City Solicitor Rodgers says they are all right, and the amendments are made to them protecting the city from damages and requiring the tracks to be removed from Liberty avenue within a certain time, I will be satisfied to leave the matter of compensation and whether either companies are to use the tracks, entirely to councils. If the ordinances are not passed by July 1, I understand, the railroad company does not wish them passed. It has options on warehouses which expire at that time, and if the ordinances are not passed before then the options will be of no use and the company will likely withdraw the ordinances. But the question for damages must be settled. The city has to pay about $100,000 worth of damages on the South Side, and we want to prevent anything more of that kind."

Director Bigelow and Councilman George W. McNeil, chairman of the corporations committee, were closeted in the former's office for about a half hour yesterday afternoon. When asked if he would call a meeting of the committee before next Monday night Mr. McNeil replied "Certainly not."

Committee Has Ordinances.

Councilman W. H. Stevenson stated yesterday that after learning that the mayor had said the Pennsylvania railroad ordinances were in the city solicitor's hands, the mayor citing Director Bigelow for the authority, he made an investigation and found that the ordinance was not in the city solicitor's hands, but still in the corporations committee.

Mr. Stevenson stated that the city solicitor may have a copy of the ordinance and that he could get officially the ordinance, only through the mayor or through councils. He stated that in his opinion Director Bigelow had no authority to place it there. Mr. Stevenson said that the fight next Monday night will be for placing the ordinance with the city solicitor. This is the move he wants made and he will work for it. He anticipates that an attempt will be made to have the ordinance taken out of committee and considered by common council as a committee of the whole.

OCTO OIL MAKES $350,000 DEAL

Sells to Franklin R. Anson of New York City 1,500 Acres of Leases.

HAS 77 PRODUCING WELLS

Sale is Closed on Basis of $1,000 for Each Barrel of Daily Production—Purchase Includes Some of Best Cow Run Sands.

"An oil deal that takes rank as one of the largest recorded this year has just been consummated. Franklin R. Anson of New York paying the Octo Oil Company of Pittsburgh $350,000 for a large amount of shallow sand territory and production in the St. Marys district, in Pleasants county, West Virginia, and the Wolf Creek and Chester Hill districts in Washington and Morgan counties, Ohio.

In the counties named Anson secures the leases on 1,500 acres of territory in which are 77 producing wells having a net aggregate production of 350 barrels a day. The consideration of $350,000 is on a basis of an even $1,000 a barrel.

The purchase includes some of the best Cow Run sand territory in the Ohio states, and as it has not been fully developed, it is the intention of the purchaser to begin active operations and push development work with four strings of tools running. It is thought with proper management the production can be increased. Should this hope be realized the price paid, the maximum for Cow Run sand production, is not too high. The property turned over is in excellent shape. It does not include all of the Octo Oil Company's holdings. The company is composed of practical and experienced operators and has been one of the most successful operating in the shallow sand territory. It will at once begin the active development of its properties not included in the sale.

It is understood that Mr. Anson made the purchase purely as an investment, but may later combine it with his other holdings and form a stock company.

Very little producing property is changing hands at this time. Owners are not disposed to let go of their holdings while it is so difficult to find new producing territory. Wildcatting is hazardous work now.

THREE MONTHS IN IRELAND

Father John Moore of St. Colman's Reaps the Benefit of a Contest.

The contest that has been in progress for the past three months, between the members of St. Colman's Catholic congregation of Turtle Creek and the members of St. Roselia's congregation of Greenfield avenue, has been won by the former, and the Rev. Father John Moore, will be given a three months trip to Ireland at the expense of the latter.

The contest was to determine which congregation could raise the largest amount of money in three months and the losing congregation was to pay all expenses for a trip of the curate of the winning congregation. The Rev. Father John Moore of St. Colman's and the Rev. Father D. J. Flinn of St. Roselia's entered the contest with the greatest vigor, and their efforts netted their congregations about $25,000. The sum collected by each congregation will be retained by them to be used in paying off indebtedness.

Father Moore will leave next week for New York whence he will sail for Ireland to visit relatives.

THE MOST REMARKABLE PIANO SALE EVER KNOWN APPROACHING THE END

Never was as much money saved in the purchase of fine pianos as has been saved at Ambuhl Bros. during this sale, and never were so many of the world's best makes of pianos sold in so short a time.

We told the people that we had secured some exceptional bargains from some of the world's most noted piano factories on account of their having recently changed their case styles, and that we in turn would give them some exceptional bargains, bargains such as have never before been offered on pianos of the first grades.

That we have kept our word has been amply proven by the great number of these pianos that have been sold, and actually thousands of dollars have been saved.

Did ever anyone hear of such noted makes of pianos as Kimball, Chickering Bros. and Hallet & Davis and a few others that always sell for $350, $400, $460, $475, $525 to $650, going for $249, $268, $290, $310, $337 to $410?

Remember these are not second-hand, or even shop worn, but entirely new, direct from the factories of some of the most noted makers of the world.

Other new high grade pianos that formerly sold for $300, $340, $375 to $400, are going at this sale for $115, $135, $160, $187, $195 to $240.

Most any piano in the house can be bought for $25 down and $10 per month. Some for $20 down and $8 per month, and some as low as $5 or $6 per month.

Here is a bargain for some one: One of the finest Chickering Bros. pianos that we ever had in our store, in a beautiful mahogany case, was damaged a little in finish in transportation. We offer it for $290.

A fine Hallet & Davis was also damaged a little in finish. It will go for $260.

Another bargain that is making us famous in this sale, is an elegant full size upright piano, full iron frame and mahogany case, that we are selling for $135.

Values like these have never been approached—we mean in good pianos.

As stated above, this very remarkable sale is approaching the end. The purchase of a piano is a big event in any household, often postponed many years on account of the high price ordinarily asked for the best grades. Here now is your opportunity to get one of the best at a big saving in price. In some instances, almost half.

An event of this kind will probably never occur again in Pittsburgh.

Friday, June 26, 1903.

There is rejoicing at Yale and chagrin at Harvard, but beyond the moment there will be no sore spots left. The boat races were manfully contested, in true American spirit and the victors were compelled to do their best to win. The great public is less concerned in the identity of the winners than in the sport for sport's sake, and is equally proud of victor and vanquished as exponents of American strength, skill and endurance.

New Orleans made a start yesterday on a work of the utmost importance to it, namely, the drainage canal that is to give it the sanitary conditions of other American cities. Up to the present New Orleans has tolerated a system of open drains with inadequate outlet, a very imperfect water supply and other unsanitary conditions that have gone far to counterbalance its many natural attractions as a place of residence. The drainage canal is the central feature of a radical reform. It must be constructed before the other factors can be introduced. It will require several years to carry out the plans in full and the expenses will be considerable, but we venture the opinion that New Orleans will find thorough sanitation the best investment it ever made. That is all that is needed to give the Crescent City a boom.

Emperor William has given the American fleet at Kiel a welcome of the most flattering character. On his arrival on the royal yacht Hohenzollern he paid the Americans the unprecedented honor of flying their flag on the after mast. His reception of Admiral Cotton was cordiality itself and his return visit to the Kearsarge yesterday was marked by profusion of compliments for the ship, its officers and crew, and for the country it represents. Some carping critic may object that the kaiser has really overdone the part of a great and good friend. We prefer not to think so. When Prince Henry visited this country he was given as warm a welcome as our democratic institutions permit and enjoyed the hospitality of the nation. His imperial brother is simply returning those courtesies so impressively that the whole world shall see and understand.

King Peter of Servia has taken the solemn oath of his office with the apparent good will of his subjects. He has sworn to maintain the independence of Servia, to uphold the constitution and to strive for the welfare of the people. It is a brave oath, but it is taken under the shadow of one of the most revolting crimes of modern history, in the presence of the perpetrators of that crime. What is it worth? Time alone can tell. The faith of Europe, exemplified by the absence of all diplomatic representatives, save those of Russia and Austria, is not great. Russia and Austria were both represented probably because they feared neither could afford to snub the new king lest the other might derive an unfair advantage. Despite his brave oath Peter goes on his throne with his hands tied, the beneficiary of cold-blooded murder and the slave of an arrogant, guilty military clique.

Apparently, the municipal hospital controversy is settled for good. The committee in charge of the Thirteenth ward citizens' protest has formally withdrawn its petition and issued an address giving its reasons for abandoning the contention. The Gazette sympathizes with the people of the Thirteenth ward in their futile objections to having the hospital remain where it is. At the same time it recognizes the difficulties in the way of changing the location. To put the hospital outside the city limits would endanger life in some cases and would arouse opposition in the locality selected. No other ward is willing to have the institution located within its borders. Thus it is easier to leave the hospital where it is than to move it, and we are sure the health bureau will do everything in its power to reduce the danger and inconvenience of its presence there to a minimum.

A long step has been made toward the possibility of permanent peace in the anthracite mining region by the organization of the conciliation board. The representatives of the operators received the three district vice presidents, with their new credentials, in cordial manner and proceeded to frame rules for the government of the board in the utmost good fellowship. In reply to the question whether President Mitchell would be permitted to appear before the board for the miners, Chairman Connell said yes, and added that the miners could send any one they choose to represent them in presenting grievances. That sort of talk makes for confidence, if not friendship, and if the business of the conciliation board is conducted on that basis there will be few questions it will not be able to decide. If the same spirit prevails when differences of opinion are appealed to higher authority the strike specter may be abolished entirely. A large proportion of the labor in the anthracite region is furnished by ignorant foreigners, but a spirit of fairness and a feeling of confidence will give the leaders power to control even that element.

President Roosevelt's decision to transmit the petition of B'nai B'rith to the czar of Russia, his original leaning to the contrary notwithstanding, has caused some surprise. It may easily be accounted for, however, by the understanding that he has become convinced the public discussion here may not reach the czar personally, and that it is a matter of justice that involves no real discourtesy to the Russian government. The desire of the Jewish citizens to have the petition transmitted is based on their belief that Czar Nicholas is not personally acquainted with all of the circumstances. In agreeing to forward the petition the government at Washington cannot be reasonably charged with trespass upon the Russian official inhibition of "representations from any foreign power" concerning Russian internal affairs. The United States will make no "representation" in the case. It will simply transmit to Russia a petition of certain persons calling the attention of the czar to alleged conditions for his personal information. There will be no official intimation that the czar or his ministers should give their attention to the matter, and we believe the czar and his officials will take the proper view that it is an entirely friendly act and not an attempt at interference in Russian affairs.

Prophecies That Failed.

While the Iowa Democratic convention nominated for governor a man who has been affiliated with the Bryan wing of the party, its most significant action was the rejection of a resolution to indorse the Democratic national platform of 1900, which reaffirmed the platform of 1896. The majority against adoption was only 89.8 in a total vote of 788, but it was sufficient in the year preceding another national convention to indicate the divorcement of the Iowa Democracy from the issue of free silver on which the Democratic party was defeated in two national campaigns. The action of the Iowa Democrats will doubtless have a powerful influence in shaping the platform expressions of the Democratic conventions of other states during this year and in clearing the decks for the final contest of next year. In turning their backs upon the free silver idol the Democrats naturally return to the subject of the tariff and as naturally couple with it the subject of the trusts. All the evils that were to have followed upon the adoption of the gold standard, prophecies which have failed of realization, are now, if we can believe the Iowa Democratic declarations, to be visited upon the country because of the tariff and because, as Judge Quick of Sioux City phrased it, "all forms of oppression have been bound into a single sheaf and named 'the trust.'"

Present prophecies of evil will, however, be examined in the light of failure of former prophecies. Instead of going to wreck on the gold standard the country was never more prosperous than since its adoption. As for the assertions of evil in present tariff schedules, everybody remembers that it was not a Republican tariff, but a Democratic scheme of tariff reform that produced the last panic with which this country was visited and filled the country with soup houses. And everybody knows that it was the present Republican tariff that restored prosperity. Therefore, when Democratic conventions and Democratic orators predict dire consequences from the growth of large business enterprises, the beneficiaries of prosperity, who are as numerous as the population of the country, will be more than skeptical. "Slavery for the producing masses" is not apparent when the producing masses are able under conditions that are condemned by the Democratic platform to name their own compensation and hours of work as they do. And while they can and do establish the rates of wages they must be paid and the hours they shall devote to labor, only a western Democratic orator can see "imperialism seizing the homes of weaker people for the exploitation of capital." The plain people, controlling their own concerns as never before, scanning the circle of human effort and reward from center to circumference, cannot see that there is anything amiss. The producing masses are doing well. There is no question about this. Even the Iowa Democratic platform and the Iowa Democratic convention orators do not say they are not. They deal in predictions, only predictions of evil. But they dealt with similar predictions four years ago and eight years ago, and years of fatness have shown that they were false prophets. That they were false prophets there is sufficient guarantee of the falseness of their present prophecies, and, furthermore, the people know that the greatest evils that have befallen this country within the memory of those now upon the scene of action were brought about by giving heed to Democratic declarations and predictions.

High School Needs.

Amid the felicitations that naturally and appropriately follow a successful school term by the pupils of the Pittsburgh high school, there is mingled very serious questionings as to the city's ability to meet the increased demand for high school privileges created by the unusually large army of graduates this year from the lower schools. The city actually finds itself without room for the hundreds of ambitious young people who are knocking for admission at the doors of the high schools. The situation is one that may well cause dismay. With all our material advancement and the rapid progress in every branch of civic life it will stand for an discredit if provision is not made to furnish school facilities for those who eagerly seek them. The city and central school board are trying to figure out the problem and the hope is felt that some solution will be met for a situation that to say the least is unfortunate in a city of Pittsburgh's wealth. The building of the East End high school, already contemplated, will relieve the strain to some extent, but it will be a physical impossibility to complete this structure in time for the fall sessions, even though work be commenced at once. It is authoritatively stated that there are four applicants from the lower schools for places in the high schools for every graduate of the latter institutions. As the high schools are already overcrowded one can easily see how the coming high school term will find many young people denied the privilege of the educational advancement for which they have striven by the failure of the city to foresee its educational needs.

The scholastic year in the Pittsburgh high school, which closed last night with the commencement exercises in Carnegie music hall, has been one of unusual profit and industry. The flatteringly unique condition exists of not a single failure in examinations by the big graduating class, every member going through with honor and credit to himself or herself and to the school. The exercises attending the commencement last evening were of a pleasant character and the young pupils deserve to be congratulated upon the record they have made for the year and the prospect of a vacation for the undergraduates and a life of future usefulness for those who pass out of the school room permanently.

It may be taken for granted that not all of the grammar school graduates will go on to high school. Many go from the ward schools to the battle of life annually. But for those who do want the high school course facilities ought to be provided. There is one possible solution in the event that school rooms cannot be had. It is to divide the classes, having one half the pupils attend for recitation during the forenoon and the other half during the afternoon. That implies all study or preparation at home. This is not advanced as an improved system, but as a possible way to give high school instruction despite inadequate buildings.

The Mayor's Stand.

If Mayor William B. Hays is correctly quoted his stand on the Pennsylvania railroad ordinance for the elevated track on Duquesne way is sound. He is made to say he will insist upon provisions to save the city harmless from all costs and damages of whatever nature incident to relocation and changes of grade, and for another provision requiring prompt removal of tracks from Liberty avenue. The mayor is quoted as saying frankly that unless the ordinance is made satisfactory in these respects he will veto it if it is passed up to him.

The provisions thus demanded by the mayor are just and proper. All parties interested have fair warning that these vital points must be covered or the ordinance will not become law. As for compensation, in addition to the clearing of Liberty avenue and joint occupation of the tracks, Mayor Hays leaves those questions to councils and the railroad company. The franchise sought is valuable. There can be no question on that point. But to the city the most valuable consideration is the removal of the Liberty avenue tracks at an early date, and that should not be sacrificed in the pursuit of the unattainable, though we do not pretend to say that some payment of rental or bonus is certainly not attainable. Joint occupation of the tracks is probably not feasible, though occasional crossings are not unreasonable.

We welcome Mayor Hays to the position taken by The Gazette from the first. It is unassailably just and fair in its essential features. It is liberal toward the railroad company, but keeps in view the welfare of the city, which has suffered from street traffic congestion and freight congestion, both of which conditions will be measureably relieved by the proposed change from the tracks at grade in Liberty avenue to the elevated system along Duquesne way and throughout the Point district.

Convention Cities.

Although it is fully a year until the national conventions will assemble there is quite an active rivalry on foot among several cities for the honor of entertaining these big and important bodies. Kansas City and St. Louis in the west and Baltimore in the east have organized regular movements looking to the capture of at least one of the conventions. Baltimore, it is announced, is not going to be particular from a party standpoint, but will go in for both conventions, under the impression, possibly, that should she lose one she may land the other. The entertainment of a national convention is an enormous undertaking. Not only is the question of securing proper hall room for the delegations entitled to floor privileges a problem of serious moment, but the convention hall must be large enough to accommodate a large crowd of people who, while not members, will claim and secure the right to witness the proceedings as spectators. To build a temporary structure for so large a gathering is not only an expensive business, but hazardous as well. In not many cities in the country is there a permanent structure adapted for the uses of a national convention under modern conditions. Philadelphia four years ago was well provided in this respect, having the use of the big main hall of her exposition buildings that had been erected only a year previous. There was some complaint of the acoustics of this building as it was, though in the main it proved one of the most convenient buildings for convention purposes that the Republican party has ever used and infinitely better than the accommodations afforded at St. Louis four years before. At Kansas City, in 1900, a temporary structure was erected, and from the testimony of many persons there was much discomfort growing out of the mistakes made in the hasty construction of the hall. Baltimore citizens are urging their city as a proper place for one or both of the conventions in 1904 upon the ground that they have a splendid music hall capable of comfortably housing the delegates.

There are many other considerations that will weigh with the committees. The geographical position of the city, the political attitude of the state in which it is situated and the climatic conditions in midsummer. Hotel and boarding house accommodations are also taken into account and accessibility by railroad lines. It is not likely one city will capture both conventions. The city of monuments is quite an adept at entertainment, a regular prince in hospitality, blessed with good transportation facilities and a delightful place.

An Austrian embassy, awfully arrayed
Boldly stood pat for the king at Belgrade.
The czar of the Cossacks said, "We'll squint at the strife,"
But the rest of the bunch said "Not on your life."

Between her street railway strikes and her troubles with the federal government over the Galveston, Richmond, Va., is having a regular "durin' o' the war" thues of it.

Wall street market reports have not been "all wool" recently, though there has been considerable "fleecing" done. Cotton has figured to a considerable extent.

Two glasses of beer rendered a man deaf and dumb in New York the other day. This is clearly an improvement on some of the talking brands that New Yorkers drink.

If Prince Henry tries to get even with American hospitality through his naval guests at Kiel there will be several lame digestions in the navy later.

Mr. Bristow, who has hold of the postal department probe, is another Kansas product that indicates that there is nothing the matter with that state.

If the political spell-binders will read the commencement news carefully they may be able to pick up a number of valuable oratorical hints for use later on.

If all the plans under discussion be carried out the theatrical planetary system will suffer from over enlargement before the season begins.

Baltimore has inaugurated a movement to capture both national conventions. Baltimore seems to have contracted the convention habit.

Breathitt county law-breakers are disposed, in the light of recent events in Delaware and elsewhere to exclaim, "Oh, I don't know."

Pittsburgh finds a new significance in the old "Give Us Liberty" cry in the present contention as to granting railway franchises.

Harvard's color is crimson, but it was quite badly mixed up with blue after the boat races with Yale yesterday.

The Iowa Democratic convention finished up whatever the recent floods left of the Kansas City platform.

King Peter tried his crown on yesterday. He is worrying less about its fit than his ability to keep it on.

Fortunately there was no meteorological influence strong enough to take a "rise" out of June.

The green apple and the toy pistol are about neck and neck in the race after the small boy.

Both Bill Devery and the volcano of Vesuvius are said to be again in eruption.

Mr. Bryan seems to have run across quite a hot "Iowa idea" also.

FIRST CHURCH CORNER STONE.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Sir: Having attended the First Presbyterian church during the last years of the pastorate of Dr. Herron and the first years of that of Dr. Paxton, from 1850 to 1854, and having united with the church in the latter year, I have been naturally interested in the discussion as to the missing box which was supposed to have been placed in the corner stone when the foundations were laid, so I ascertained from R. S. Davis the date of the contract—March, 1853, and proceeded out to Carnegie library and secured a file of The Gazette for that year and searched it from March 1 to August 1 with this result: On May 28, 1853, I find this notice: "The foundation walls of the new First Presbyterian church are nearly laid. The work is being pushed with the greatest rapidity.

On June 8, 1853, is this item: "The First Presbyterian church—We yesterday had the pleasure of examining the drawings for the new First Presbyterian church, now being erected in Wood street. The building will be of the Gothic style, with two towers on either side. The front and the towers will be built of cut stone, and the sides will be brick. At the rear of the church will be a study and a lesson room, opening into the church, 40x80 feet. The church above will be 68 feet in breadth and 85 feet in length, or about 100 feet, including the rear rooms. Messrs. Howarth & Eismann are the contractors, and Mr. Rantberger, the architect. The building, it is anticipated, will be finished by October 1, 1854. The foundation walls have been laid, as have those of one tower, the excavation for the other tower has been completed, and the masons will in a day or two commence the stone work."

Now, Mr. Editor, if there was a corner stone laid and a box put in it, it would probably be put in the "other tower," referred to, but from June 8, 1853, to August 1, 1853, there is no reference in The Gazette to such an event, although I find a column and a half regarding the laying of the corner stone of Christ Methodist Episcopal church on July 13, 1853, at which Bishop Simpson took part.

In conclusion, I hope the corner stone and the box will be found, or that some one, who has better eyes than myself, will at least find an account of the ceremony. Yours very truly,

HENRY A. LAVELY.

Pittsburgh, June 25.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

The Rev. J. W. Cross of Lawrence, Mass., the oldest living Harvard graduate, recently celebrated his 95th birthday.

The governor general of Canada has presented to Miss Georgina Pope the Royal Red Cross in recognition of her nursing services in South Africa. She is the first woman in Canada to become the recipient of this honor.

Sir Frederick Pollock, the famous English lawyer and law writer of London, has added his acceptance of an invitation to read a paper before the annual meeting of the American Bar association, which will be held at Hot Springs, Va., August 26 to 28.

When Rear Admiral Melville, chief of the bureau of steam engineering, goes on the retired list in August the last of the members of the naval board of construction who adopted their knowledge of the building of warships from practical experience will have disappeared.

Albert Spalding, 14 years of age, the son of J. Walter Spalding of New York city, obtained a diploma as professor of the violin at the Bologna Conservatory of Music. He is the youngest person upon whom such a degree has been conferred. Thirty points were necessary to pass, but the young musician won 48 out of a possible 50.

Dr. LeBaron R. Briggs, dean of the faculty of arts and sciences of Harvard University, who has been chosen president of Radcliffe College for Women, succeeding Mrs. Louise Agassiz, who resigned recently, is the man characterized by President Eliot of Harvard as "patient, tender, discerning, candid, just and cheering, because convinced of the overwhelming preponderance of good in the student world."

An Important Demand.

Sincere American well-wishers of the young Cuban republic have viewed with regret the plan of its government to saddle the island with the burden of a $35,000,000 debt in the early experimental stages of its independence. Now it appears that even if the whole of this sum should be devoted to the payment of the claims of the ex-insurgents who have been clamoring for cash from the public funds it will not satisfy them. More money is needed, the applicants assert, and if it is not forthcoming the government must take steps to rectify the matter, either by granting the revolutionary warriors partial exemption from taxes or otherwise. As it is doubtful if there were ever 10,000 men in the field at any one time against the Spanish government before the United States intervened, the colossal impudence of this demand is evident.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Quiet Observer.

ERASMUS WILSON.

O, great corrector of enormous times,
Shaker of o'er-rank states, thou grand decider
Of dusty and old titles, that healest with blood
The earth when it is sick, and curest the world
O' the pleurisy of people!

Beaumont and Fletcher.

You don't know how many people are killed every day of every week. Maybe it is as well that you do not.

Nor do you stop to think of the change going on daily right here in our midst, the long lists of deaths that appear daily in the papers, or the weekly sum of violent deaths that appear in the coroner's report.

But what good would there be in pouring over death lists? You would be none the better for it. Death is as natural as life itself. In fact it is a necessity if the plan and order of nature is carried out, and it will be, whether you like it or not.

It would be an awful thing for man, as he now is, to have to live here always. Those who live beyond the allotted three-score years and ten are usually willing to go home, and may become impatient of the so long delay of their departure.

* * * * *

There will always be wars and means provided to prevent a plethora of people in the world, also to secure a plentiful population of the earth. This we can readily see if we only look around and note that which passes before us. Many deaths there be, but more births, so that the number of people on the earth is constantly being augmented. The weaker die because less fit to live—less fit to stand the vicissitudes of life on this particular globe. Those who die may be mere fit to live elsewhere in God's great universe—on some other globe, perchance, or in a different sphere, where life is less strenuous.

Most fortunate it is that we do not contemplate death at a distance, but only see him when he is near, quite near. The soldier in the field rarely thinks of his chances of being killed. Even on the eve of battle thoughts of death do not distress him. It is only when he comes face to face with danger that he trembles, and that is generally a manifestation of the fear of danger rather than of death. This fear of danger is really a desire to live, a natural feeling ordained by nature to prompt us to acts of self-protection.

The greatest difficulty we have is in controlling this feeling. Those who are not strong enough to do so are called cowards.

* * * * *

Nature manages to get rid of people quite rapidly, not only in the usual way, but in unusual ways. Since April 1, a period of only three months, more than 1,000 people have been destroyed by storm and flood in this country, an average of over 10 per day.

To this may be added about 10 deaths per day on account of railroads; about the same number from suicide and accident. This latter estimate is too low, probably, for suicides alone will amount to fully one half the number, and fatal accidents usually exceed suicides in number.

But what are a score of violent deaths per day in a population of nearly 80,000,000?

The railroad list of casualties looks big, and yet there was less than one passenger killed per day. The other nine were railroad employes. Considering the number of passengers carried by the various railways the average is exceeding low, even below that of fatalities in the usual walks of life.

The total number of casualties to persons on account of railway accidents as shown for last year was 73,230, including 8,588 killed and 64,642 injured. Of railway employes, 2,969 were killed and 30,534 injured.

The number of passengers killed was 345 and the number injured 6,683. One passenger was killed for every 1,883,760 carried, and one injured for every 97,244 carried. Ratios based upon the number of miles traveled, however, show that 57,972,283 passenger miles were accomplished for each passenger killed and 2,046,272 passenger miles accomplished for each passenger injured.

* * * * *

About the fact of the matter is that nature is just as profligate with life as with anything else. How few of the buds on a fruit tree develop blossoms, and how few of the many blossoms develop fruit, and how small a percentage of the fruit that is born reaches maturity.

Animal life is no more sacred to nature than vegetable life, and whether the fates, as we sometimes term the natural forces, have any less respect for vegetable life than for human, who can tell?

Who sees with equal eyes, as God of all,
A hero perish or a sparrow fall,
Atoms of systems into ruin hurl'd,
And now a bubble burst, and now a world.

—Pope.

But here we get into deep water, very deep, and we had better get back into the shallow.

There is a fascination about deep water, great depths and dizzy heights that lures one on and on, beyond the line of safety and into the very jaws of death. It is something of this sort that carries one on and on toward the infinite until the finite powers fail, and the victim flounders and struggles in despair, and his faith is swallowed up in doubt—unpromising, distressing doubt.

* * * * *

But the same poet, Pope, whom we have just quoted, comes to the relief of the distraught investigator who has relied so implicitly upon his powers of observation and reason, and assures him that—

"In spite of pride, in erring reason's spite,
One truth is clear, Whatever is, is right."

And what more does one need to believe than this in order to become reconciled to his surroundings? Of course, if he could change the order of things in the realm of nature so as to have them come his way there would be some sense in his efforts to grasp the infinite. About the best he can do is to look, listen and be thankful. To attempt to understand all will only make him weary. Happier is he who seeks to know well the things he can know, and enjoys them. To him it is as our poet says:

"Pretty! in amber to observe the forms
Of hairs, or straws, or dirt, or grubs, or worms!
The things, we know, are neither rich nor rare,
But wonder how the devil they got there."

Anyway, what does it matter whether we understand the why and the wherefore of the dense mysteries in nature? There is both pleasure and profit in learning to understand these as far as our limited powers will allow, but when we get beyond our depth and begin to flop and flounder we are getting neither profit nor pleasure.

* * * * *

The fact that there is so much more to sight that we cannot understand than is within our mental grasp is proof that this sphere is not our last. The desire of the soul to know, and to enjoy the things which belong to higher spheres, is the strongest evidence to us that such spheres exist.

In order to gain these we must, of necessity, desire to do so, and so train and direct our aspirations that they will lead us in the right way.

What would you think of a man or woman who professed to desire the benefits of education, yet refused to go to school, or even to study and strive to acquire learning?

Then, how can you expect to gain a higher plain of existence from which the mysteries of nature appear clearer and are more easily understood?

But, if you are satisfied to let this life be your limit it is your privilege to so elect. Certainly you cannot enter a class much higher than the one you leave, or any higher unless you are anxious to do so, and can show that you are really ambitious to know and to understand, and willing to make the necessary effort.

Your future shall be what you make it, not what you would like it to be made for you.

SERVIAN NATIONAL SONG.

My country, 'tis of thee,
Land of conspiracy,
Of thee I sing.
Land of Pavolovitch,
Land of Obrenovitch,
From every Petrowitch
Let vitches ring.

My native countrywitch,
Land of Karageorgewitch,
Thy name I like.
I like its gentle thrills,
Its ragtime breaks and trills,
My tongue rebels and spills
Each name I strike.

Let spitters smell the breeze,
Spit out the c's and x's,
Chew all the rest.
Let martial tongues awake,
Let all a long breath take,
Your face prepare to break

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—From New York to Paris by railroad has long been a dream with progressive people. Now it seems it may become something more than a dream. The chief obstacle to the raising of $500,000,000, which, according to M. Loucq of Lobel, now with his wife in this city, must be raised before the railroad can be constructed and put in working order. When the full amount has been subscribed it will require only about six years of labor to make it possible to ride all the way from Broadway to the Champs Elysees by railroad, and to enter the distance in 54 days. M. Lobel says this gigantic undertaking has passed the embryonic stage, in that its feasibility has been demonstrated. Moreover, he says, he has $20,000,000 promised, but he requires four times that amount. There are persons, both in France and America, who are mortally afraid of an ocean voyage, and who would go across the world if they could do it by a land journey? To such the contemplated road would be a boon. The chief advantages anticipated by M. Lobel, however, would be the opening up of mining districts in Alaska which have never been developed and the bringing of the klondike within easy reach of civilization. He is very enthusiastic over the project, and he infuses enthusiasm to whomsoever may talk to him. He proved that at the Waldorf-Astoria this evening.

Something Doing at Yonkers.

Yonkers, that staid, respectable little city on the Hudson within hailing distance of New York, is likely to be struck by the postoffice investigation lightning. That is the talk tonight. It is said that there will be inquiry into the circumstances attending the appointment of Robert L. Beer as treasurer of the Yonkers postoffice. As nothing official has been done in the matter, so far, gossip is extremely guarded, but it is declared in a general way that Mr. Beer's appointment was irregular.

New McGarey Melodrama.

James B. McGarey, the well-known Pittsburgher, who is a brother of former Magistrate David McGarey of the South Side, has written another melodrama. It is called "New York Life." It will be produced by W. T. Keogh at the New Star theater, in this city, in September.

New Arrest in "Barrel Mystery."

The grand jury believes it has the man who committed what was known as the "barrel murder" last winter. It indicted Thomas Fette for that crime today. It will be remembered that the dead body of a man was found stuffed into a barrel early one morning on the sidewalk of a populous street on the East Side, and that federal secret service detectives gave material assistance to the New York police in ferreting out the assassin.

Odds Breaking on Yacht Race.

Betting on the Shamrock and Reliance down in Wall street is at short odds, but experts in yachting think the odds will be shorter as time passes. Fred H. Brooks of Wall street, who yesterday offered $2,000 on the Shamrock against $1,000, today increased his offer to $2,500 against $1,000. The backers of the Reliance, who are numerous, are holding off, because they think they can do better with their money than five to 2½ later. It would not surprise people in New York if the betting were even when the boats leave the starting line for the great contest.

More Underground Franchises Asked.

As work on the rapid transit system under ground proceeds, the Interborough Railway Company is after franchises which will enable it to extend its lines much farther than was provided for originally. The company this afternoon asked for permission to build a subway along Broadway between Forty-second and Fourteenth streets. Thence the line would be continued by way of University place, Wooster and Church streets, in a straight line, to South Ferry, whence the tunnel will run under the East river to Brooklyn. It is difficult to follow the many directions which the rapid transit tunnel will take if franchises can be procured as asked for. There is always the question of franchises to be considered, however, and the chances are that it will be a long time before Broadway is torn up for subway operations in the manner that has made that thoroughfare farther up town a howling wilderness for the last two years.

Honors for Eli's Sons.

"Yale, Yale, Yale" is all one hears in the hotel corridors and in upper Broadway tonight. The victory of the blues at New London in the great aquatic battle with Harvard has set everyone wild, and Yale men who happen to be in New York are popular heroes. If the oarsmen themselves came to the city, they would be killed by kindness, in all probability. New York has a soft spot in its heart for Yale, anyhow, and when it achieves a three-fold victory like that of today, Father Knickerbocker feels he is more than justified in thinking the New Haven men unbeatable in any line of true sport.

Mr. Morgan's Busy Day.

J. Pierpont Morgan put in a good hard day at his office in Wall street. He arrived about 11:30, and retired to his private office. There he plunged into business in his usual go-ahead style, and every subordinate knew that "the old man" was on deck, and that it would be well for all hands to toe the mark. Mr. Morgan would not see newspaper men, remarking that there was nothing to be said by him or for him. That ended the controversy, if there was to be one, and Mr. Morgan is a man who can keep his mouth shut when it suits him.

Mr. Schwab's Daily Denial.

One of J. P. Morgan's partners is quoted as saying today: "Mr. Schwab has not resigned, and is not going to resign, so far as I know, and the International Mercantile Marine is not going to be reorganized. You can print that and keep it stereotyped for daily use. You might print some cards containing that information for me to hand to reporters every time I am asked those questions.

So Near and Yet So Far.

Few persons who pass the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., at the corner of Wall and Broad streets, know that the presiding genius of the place, Mr. Morgan himself, is close to them. There are wire blinds to the windows, which effectually prevent anyone outside looking into the office, but which give a fairly clear view outward. Mr. Morgan is behind one of those wire blinds, and as he sits at his desk, or walks about the room, generally in his shirtsleeves and with a black cigar in the corner of his mouth, he often gazes at the busy street musingly. He may not be thinking particularly of the scene before him, but it is a tradition in Wall street that J. P. Morgan sees and remembers every person and incident upon which that keen vision of his chances to fall. He is inaccessible to strangers, of course, but he is right at their elbows, notwithstanding.

That Summery Feeling.

Summer time begins to call
A feeling to the breast,
Tells me I just must get out
Along the lemon trees.
Oh! life may do its worst,
But it's a joy for sure,
How refer can be thus cupped up
I could never see.

Flirt just reachin' for the book,
Seems as they can't wait
While a feller takes up time
Figgerin' for the bait.
Thinks I'm one for the movies, and then
My son was sunstruck out,
Flirt a big string, "Are ye know
Jest what you're about."

Bobbin' chaps in the trees
Seems so bright to me
With just a vacant orchid else
To fill up my eye.
Cherry blossoms out some them,
They are out there all.
Flirt she was good little song,
Tra-la-la-la-la-la.

Dewin' comes and then the moon
Pales it's ineffectual light
Makes ye feel this Persian life
Isn't half at all.
Strange as it may seem to you
That seems kind o' odd,
An' the silence hushes ye soon
Never a one dost.

The new King awoke with a start and reached under his pillow.

"Ah," he said, with a sigh of relief, "I dreamed that I was leading a reception to the army and had forgotten my pistol."

Memories of Long Ago.

Down in Fourth avenue the other day sat an aged fiddler. He was blind and a beggar, but people stopped to listen. It was not that he could play particularly well, but it was the tunes. They were reminders to some of the days of long ago on the farm on fine summer evenings when the old gentleman or one of the boys would get out the fiddle that father and grandfather used before them, and play the same old tunes that he had played, with an occasional new one that had been picked up. One seemed to see again the green, the farm sitting on the porch while the moon shone down through the trees, and all of us quietly sprawling in the house. Flier made there is in plenty, but there can be no finer sentiment than that of the quiet little group on the farm, tired out by the day's work, perhaps, but full with a love for the beautiful and the good.

And it was these old memories that made the fiddler in the street his popularity and many dimes. I stood on the opposite curb and watched an old soldier step gingerly up and drop a coin as the blind man waved off "Marching Through Georgia," and a little later a prosperous-looking old gentleman felt constrained to contribute his mite in appreciation of "Bonnie Dewy." The fiddler seemed not to know "Hiawatha," or "Dolly Gray," or "Hot Time," or any of the new things that have been ground out almost desperate for the barrel organs. He stuck to the old ones, and I was startled as from a dream when he struck up the "Arkansaw Traveler."

But people can't stand dreaming of olden times in a busy street in Pittsburgh, and I joined the moving throng just as the medley fiddler started to reel off the strains of "Castalina."

A milliner lured a Prince Yee,
Invited him out to take tea,
But said that she couldn't
At least that she wouldn't,
Cross the sea will Prince Yee to Keoe.

Loves Adopted Home.

Deputy United State Marshal Henry returned yesterday from Norfolk, Va., where he started two Erie Chinamen on their long journey to the Celestial Kingdom, because they failed to obey the law requiring them to register. Wong-Lung had been in this country for 27 years, and his brother, Wong-Hong, for 17 years, but the law is no respecter of age, and these men, who had acquired an affection for the country of their adoption, had to leave because of their neglect.

Wong Lung was particularly affected, and when he bade good-bye to Marshall Henry there were tears in his eyes, and he said he had hoped to live and die in America. The two brothers had prospered while in America and carry a good sum back to China, where it will make them comfortable for the balance of their lives.

"As we entered Washington," said Mr. Henry, in recounting the story of his trip, "Wong-Lung, who had never seen the city before, looked out of the car window and seeing the great dome of the Capitol building, cried pathetically:

"'Ah! the Capitol, the Capitol of my country!' and he burst into tears.

"Really it was about as unpleasant a duty as I was ever called upon to perform for the government," said Mr. Henry, "and I tried to show my sympathy for the poor fellow.

That Wong-Lung at least appreciated the feeling of Mr. Henry is shown by the fact that he presented the marshal with a 100-pound caddy of fine tea.

Postage on Manuscripts.

The postal laws of the United States are in the main liberal enough, but it would be strange if they were not open to improvement, says the Providence Journal. Indeed, since the service is under government control and is not primarily a commercial enterprise, the postoffice department may very properly be expected to make concessions that would not be asked of private capital. While some of the demands made upon its resources—as, for example, the carriage of cheap books as second-class matter—may be of doubtful utility, others are worth favorable consideration; and when the Society of American Authors asks for the carriage of authors' manuscripts at the rate of two cents for 1 cent it has the practice of other countries as a precedent. In fact, since the United States belongs to the postal union, a manuscript may be sent from an American to a foreign postoffice at a lower rate than is charged between American postoffices. This is an inequality which the society thinks should be remedied, and it

MANY CHILDREN HAVE FUN AT KINGSLEY HOUSE

Play Ground at No. 3, Fulton Street, Mecca for Hundreds of Little Ones.

TODDLERS LEVEL SAND PILES

Tenement House Youngsters Have Great Romping Spot—Institution's Summer Home at Valencia Has Started Up for the Season.

The summer playground of the Kingsley House association was opened on Wednesday for the first time this season. Hundreds of the children from the neighborhood of Kingsley house, No. 3 Fulton street, swarmed to the playground. Even the very little children, who ordinarily in children's playgrounds have nothing to do but look on in open-mouthed envy at the games of the older children, had their own little amusements, and enjoyed themselves heartily.

Seesaws, swings and much other apparatus for the amusement of the children have been provided, and the hours, from 2 to 6 p. m., the period during which the playground was open, passed rapidly for the little ones. The big tent, which is to cover a part of the playground, has not yet been erected.

A big pile of nice dry, white sand was heaped up in a corner of the yard for the very little children, and with hands, shovels, pails and tin cups, they had the pile level with the ground before the day was over, but when they arrived the following day, they found that some kind magician had built up the pile again, ready for a new destructive onslaught.

Until June 29 the playground will be open every week day from 2 to 6 p. m. but from June 29 on it will open at 9 a. m. and stay open until 6 p. m. When the children get tired of frolicking in the open air they can repair to one of the large rooms on the first floor of Kingsley house, where they may engage in any other games that the spirit moves them to play.

The Kingsley summer home at Valencia, on the Pittsburgh & Western railroad, is also in full operation now. The first party of children was taken out to the summer home last week, the party being made up of 23 kindergartners. On Saturday morning a day party of 32 girls enjoyed the day at the summer home. On next Tuesday the first party of 50 children, who are to spend two weeks in Valencia, will be transferred to the country, and from that time on the home will be kept full of children until September. Persons who know how to take care of the little ones and keep them amused have charge of the home and everything that can be done will be done for their comfort and physical benefit.

DAVIDSON PREPARES FOR BIG LEGAL BATTLE

Allegheny Delinquent Tax Collector Is to Be Ably Represented at a Special Meeting of the Finance Committee.

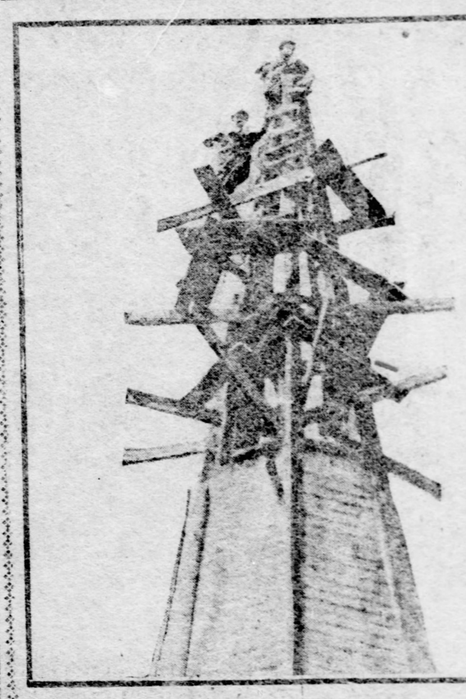
A special meeting of the finance committee of Allegheny councils will be held on Monday, July 6, to consider the ordinance providing for the abolition of the delinquent tax office. The regular meeting of the committee is scheduled for July 22, but at the request of Controller Verner Breaux the time was set forward. It is expected that the meeting will be attended by every member of both branches of councils and by a large number of taxpayers who are vitally interested in the fate of the measure. The meeting will be held in the committee room of councils.

The measure is to be bitterly fought by Delinquent Tax Collector Davidson and his friends. Davidson is to be represented at the committee meeting by an array of counsel such as has never before been called together on the North Side. It is his purpose to put up a brave fight in committee, in hope that his efforts will be rewarded by a negative report to select council.

Chairman Kirschler is going to take no chances with this company of attorneys and will be represented by one of the best law firms of Pittsburgh. Mr. Kirschler said yesterday that it was not his intention to battle for the ordinance, but that in view of the fact that Davidson was to be represented by a number of attorneys, he too would have counsel there, so that where legal points are raised the questions may be settled equitably. Public interest in the measure, Mr. Kirschler says, demands this.

Collector Davidson has made personal calls on every member of the committee and asked each for his support. This mission has been very disappointing to Davidson. Mayor Wyman still maintains a sphinx-like silence when questioned regarding the ordinance.

LOFTY SPIRE OF ST. ANDREWS' IS FAST DISAPPEARING FROM VIEW



The lofty spire of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church, which for nearly two score years has pierced the sky-line in Ninth street, is being demolished to make way for the new Star theater to be erected upon the site by R. M. Gulick and P. J. McNulty. The roof of the old building has been already lifted and the majestic spire is the last to go.

The accompanying picture, made from a photograph by a Gazette staff photographer, by means of the tele-photo process, tells more graphically than words, how the apex of the steeple is removed. The workmen first climbed the dark stairway inside the spire and then making their way through the windows, scaled the cone and erected their scaffolds.

CITY'S WATER GIVEN AS HORRIBLE EXAMPLE

Physicians Discuss Our Drinking Supply at New Castle Banquet.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
NEW CASTLE, PA., June 25.—Dr. Victor C. Vaughn, dean of the medical department of the University of Michigan, stated here last night at the annual banquet of the Physicians' club that typhoid fever is a disease that has no excuse for existence and is always the result either of ignorance or carelessness in failing to provide a supply of pure drinking water.

Dr. Vaughn was one of the special commissioners appointed by President McKinley to investigate the typhoid fever outbreaks in the American camps during the Spanish-American war and also the American representative to the bacteriological congress the same year at Moscow, Russia. James Davidson of Youngstown cited Pittsburgh as a city that had typhoid scourges because it failed to provide a filtration plant to furnish pure water.

Dr. W. T. English of the medical department of the Western University of Pennsylvania took exception to the statement that the Pittsburgh water is wholly responsible. He also refused to indorse the idea that filtration would make bad water good. He said that the suggestion of preventing typhoid by boiling water had been hooted down at the recent meeting of the American Medical society.

Graduates of Pittsburgh High School Outline How the World Should Be Run.

LIBEL BIEL SEVERELY SCORED

Audience Expresses Its Approval of the Sentiments of the Orator—Compelled to Acknowledge the Ovation—Bouquet of Pretty Girls Gladden the Eye.

Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker did not attend the forty-fifth annual commencement exercises of the Pittsburgh High school in Carnegie Music hall last evening. If he had, the governor would have been edified, but not pleased.

The vast audience, hundreds of whom were unable to find seats, expressed its approval vociferously while Louis Adelman discussed "Public Officers and the Press." The Pittsburgh opinion of the Salus-Grady libel bill was made known in no uncertain terms.

At the close of his address Graduate Adelman was given an ovation that forced him to return to the front of the stage and acknowledge the compliment.

In his remarks Adelman held up Governor Pennypacker and his political followers to ridicule and likened the famous bill to the attempt at enacting similar laws during the period of John Adams' presidency. That bill, he said, caused such a tremendous upheaval of public sentiment that a disruption of the Union was imminent.

He pronounced the recently made law, in both origin and enactment, a product of political corruption, and further along said that the people never desired that the slight evils incorporated in yellow journalism should be corrected by yellow politics. He said Gov. Pennypacker's assertion that his judicial experience led him to believe the newspapers were propagating crime, was the basest libel. He lauded conscientious, hardworking newspaper men. His remarks included a dissecting of the bill and concluded with an eulogy of the public press.

Seven girl graduates in pure white, each holding a bouquet of flowers no sweeter than herself, were the feature of the commencement exercises last evening. Of course, there were a number of boy graduates, but no one looked at them. The girls had reached the junction of brook and river that Tennyson referred to when he was writing poetry at his best per word. And it would be difficult to find a prettier bouquet of beauty in the world.

The program was carried out as announced in yesterday morning's Gazette, there was no hitch anywhere, and every person in the audience said it was a most enjoyable evening.

STUDENTS OF THREE SCHOOLS GRADUATED

Commencement Exercises in Homewood, Friendship and Liberty Sub-District Schools.

The annual commencement exercises of the Homewood sub-district school were held last night in the Homewood Avenue Presbyterian church. The presentation of diplomas was made by J. A. Cyphers, president of the board of trustees and the acceptance of diplomas was made by Edgar C. McFeaters, president of the graduating class. The annual sermon to the class was preached in the Homewood Avenue Methodist Episcopal church last Sunday night by the Rev. J. T. Pender.

The commencement program opened with an organ prelude by Simeon Bissell. The salutatory was delivered by Miss Anna Helen Kuhn and was entitled "Respect for Rightful Authority." The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. W. E. McCullough. The balance of the program was carried out as follows:

Solo, Miss Katherine Ellis; essay, "Another Chance," Laura Raymond Dennison, orator. "The Man at the Throttle," Clifford Ellwood Cyphers; chorus by class; recitation, "The Hero of the Furnace Room," Emma Norris Bartley; essay, "The American Woman," Effie Leota Shields; solo, Miss Ellis; oration, "The Spirit of the Age," David Arthur Kellogg; recitation, "The Whistling Regiment," Vera Helen Forsyth; solo, Miss Ellis; address to the class, the Hon. H. L. Castle; valedictory, "The Greatest of These is Charity," Ethlyn Hartington; chorus, by class; benediction, the Rev. Joseph P. Colhoun.

The graduating exercises of the Friendship school and the Liberty sub-district Twentieth ward school were held last night. There has not been one failure in high school examinations in the Liberty school for many years. The school is under the direction of Principal J. P. Cameron. In this year's class there were 100 pupils, surpassing last year's record by three students.

The Wedding Guests Quarreled.

LATROBE, PA., June 25.—(Special.)—As the result of a free-for-all fight which occurred at a Hungarian wedding near Blackstone's church in Unity township, Saturday evening, William Howard is lying at his home in a critical condition, and Harry McClean is in jail charged with felonious assault upon him. The men drank beer at the wedding, and it is said that followed between McClean and Howard, the latter had his scalp lacerated and three ribs fractured.

Skull Crushed by Blast.

MEYERSDALE, PA., June 25.—(Special.)—John Lindeman, aged 20 years, unmarried, of this place, was instantly killed last evening while employed as a charger at the Somerset Coal Company's coke ovens, two miles from here. His work was in the vicinity of where grading is being done for new ovens. A blast was put off and a large rock weighing several hundred pounds was blown into the air, descending squarely upon the unfortunate man's head, crushing his skull.

Held an Enthusiastic Election.

The balloting at the annual election of Local Union No. 2, of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, lasted until after midnight. The voting commenced yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, in the headquarters, No. 105 Wylie avenue. The election was the most enthusiastic ever held by the union. There are contests in every office with the exception of first and second vice presidents. The election board will not be able to count the votes until noon today.

DEAD KING'S HORSE RIDDEN BY PETER

New Ruler of Servia Takes Oath of Office and Reviews His Troops.

Peter I. Takes on More Royal Mien and Seems Confident of Support of the People—Poor Honor Memory of Alexander and Draga.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
BELGRADE, June 25.—Amidst great enthusiasm, King Peter this morning took the oath before the skupshtina. Subsequently he held a review of the troops, and later confirmed the appointment of the existing ministry.

Previous to the king taking the oath there was a joint sitting of the senate and skupshtina, attended by a religious service at which the metropolitan officiated. King Peter then appeared, wearing his orders and other decorations and accompanied by the ministers. The metropolitan uttered a brief prayer and then read the oath, which the king repeated in a firm voice.

Loud cries of "Long live King Peter," punctuated the king's repetition of the oath.

After the metropolitan had bestowed the benediction all present joined in singing the national hymn.

The king took leave of the assembly with the words, "God be with us, brothers."

On the parade ground which is situated three miles from Belgrade, four regiments of infantry, two regiments of cavalry, four field batteries of artillery and one horse battery were drawn up. Both the Russian and Austrian military attaches were present.

King Peter, wearing a general's uniform, and mounted on a white horse formerly ridden by the late King Alexander, and surrounded by a brightly uniformed staff, took up a position in front of the pavilion while the troops marched past. They were a fine body of men, but their equipment was not practical.

King Peter, after the march passed rode off, followed by shouts of "Long live King Peter."

It was remarked on all sides that the king seemed hourly to assume a more commanding attitude and that he gains a firmer grasp of affairs. His demeanor when he took the oath and the expression on his face showed masterfulness and his intention to be a king in fact as well as in name, ruling unflinchingly as well as justly. The demonstrations yesterday evening convinced him that he is not merely the elect of the military or of a civilian faction, but that he had the people at his back.

A considerable number of the poorer classes of people have placed candles on the tombs of King Alexander and Queen Draga.

OFF FOR BOSTON.

Pennsylvania Runs Special Train Carrying Christian Scientists Delegates.

The Pennsylvania railroad ran a special train last night to Boston. It contained delegates and visitors to the convention of Christian Scientists, which will be held in that city commencing Sunday. The train was made up of five Pullman sleepers, a day coach and baggage car.

There has been competition between the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie and the Pennsylvania for the Boston business. The trunk lines granted a rate of $18 for the round trip, the cheapest rate ever granted this territory.

BAGGAGE MAN ARRESTED FOR ROBBING THE MAILS

HARRISBURG, June 25.—Charles Botteiger, a baggagemaster on the Lykens Valley railroad, was arrested by Postoffice Inspector Malone today on the charge of robbing the mails. Articles to the value of $100 were found in the possession of his sweetheart, Miss Leerle Esterline. These are supposed to have been stolen from mail pouches en route to and from Lykens on the car of which he had charge. Botteiger made a confession of the theft of several articles.

Smallpox Case Found on a Train.

A Hungarian, believed to be afflicted with smallpox, was found on a Pennsylvania railroad accommodation train, due at Braddock at 1 o'clock, yesterday afternoon. The discovery was made by one of the trainmen. The other passengers were taken from the coach and a messenger dispatched for Dr. A. W. Schooley, who had the man sent to the Pittsburgh municipal hospital.

MASTER BUILDERS ASK FOR ARBITRATION RULE

Plan to Avoid Terrors of Idleness Discussed at First Annual Banquet.

While the Master Builders' association of Allegheny county enjoyed the menu of their first annual banquet last night at the Union club, they also discussed plans for the organization of a board of arbitration for the settlement of labor difficulties. It is part of their plan to refer matters arising between employe and the employer to a board appointed from each of the contestants and thereby obviate a strike. It is their idea to first refer the question in dispute to the board with the understanding that all work will go on pending a settlement.

Covers were laid for 65 guests. H. B. Rose was toastmaster. The principal address was made by Adam Wilson who appealed for a uniform form of contract to be used between the contractor, the subcontractor and architects. William T. Powell responded to the toast, "Our Association." George W. Miller, who retires after serving 17 years as secretary of the organization, was presented with a gold watch and chain as a token of the association's esteem for long and faithful service in that office.

WHITE PIGEONS WILL BEAR GOOD PRIZES

Six hundred white pigeons, each carrying an order for a prize, which may range from a sheet of music to a diamond pin, will be released, 300 each day, from Calhoun park during the orphans' picnic July 15 and 16. That there may be no conflict with the humane laws, they must be returned by the captures alive and uninjured.

ONE KILLED, OTHERS HURT BY COLLAPSE OF A BRIDGE

New Structure at Franklin Undermined by High Water and Fell to River.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
FRANKLIN, PA., June 25.—The false structure of the bridge being built over the Allegheny river at Eighth street collapsed at 10 this morning, killing one man and injuring five others so badly that they will probably die.

The dead man is Charles Walton, aged 23, of Beaver Falls. The injured are: David Ramsey, foreman; Clifford Hoffman, Joseph Darling, B. Frasier, E. Hill. Seventeen men were at work on the structure when it gave way. One man gave a shout of warning as the frame began to move and many of the workmen saved themselves by jumping into the water. Several of these had narrow escapes from drowning.

Walton's death was caused by an iron frame striking his head. William Hogan jumped when he felt the bridge going and grasped a dangling rope. He swung himself to shore in safety, and this presence of mind undoubtedly saved his life. The accident was probably caused by the high water undermining the false structure.

The injured men were taken to the new City hospital, being the first cases to be handled by that institution. Two of the men were removed to the hospital in the automobile of Mrs. J. Donald McCadmont, a society woman, who drove the machine herself.

HONORA, PA., June 25.—Nine mounted policemen are stationed about the plant of the American Steel and Wire Company fought on account of a strike of the boilermakers for increased pay. So far there has been no rioting, but feeling is bitter and trouble is expected.

PESTHOUSE FIGHT ENDED

Thirteenth Ward Citizens Withdraw Opposition to Erection of New Hospital Buildings.

FOUGHT FOR TWO YEARS

Committee Issues a Statement in Which City Officials Are Charged With Not Having Fulfilled Their Promises—Work Done by Committee.

Further opposition to the erection of the new Municipal hospital on the site of the present pesthouse, has been withdrawn by the citizens of the Thirteenth ward. In a statement issued yesterday the committee announces that it will in no way attempt to delay the building.

The fight has been on for a couple of years. A majority of the citizens of the ward wanted the pesthouse removed and the residents organized to fight the erection of a new hospital on the old site. These men formed the committee having in charge the matter, William McElhaney, chairman; W. C. McEldowney, Peter Nolan, John F. Entress, S. A. Will, John Ellmore and John Golden.

In the statement issued to the citizens of the ward, the committee reviews its work. The fights in the courts and councils and the enactment of a law to allow second-class cities to build municipal hospitals outside of the city limits are recited. After getting this law the committee secured an option on the Andrews farm in Robinson township. The 115 acres were offered the city for $25,000. An ordinance for the purchase of the farm has been in the hands of a sub-committee of councils for several weeks. The committee finally decided that it was useless to make further opposition. In conclusion the committee says:

Your committee has no desire to censure anyone, but the truth compels us to say that we were misled by the leaders and influential men in office and in politics in this city. Promises of help were made to us which were never fulfilled.

When the Andrews' farm was proposed secret opposition developed and the committee is satisfied that it is a waste of time to push that matter any farther. The Andrews' farm may not have been the best site, but the leaders in politics who were pledged to remove the hospital from the Thirteenth ward have not offered a better one. In fact, they have done nothing to fulfill their pledges and this committee believes that it would be wrong to offer any further opposition to the erection of the new buildings.

The present buildings are old and rotten, and unfit for the accommodation and proper hygienic treatment of the unfortunate victims of smallpox, and this committee believes that the death rate would be much smaller if new and modern buildings were erected. They further believe that it would be unwise and unpatriotic to offer any further objection to the erection of the new buildings. They therefore give notice that they will make no further attempt to stop or delay the erection of the new buildings, but on the contrary, will urge the city authorities to erect the same as soon as possible.

LUTHERANS MAY UNITE.

Proposition for a Conference to Agree Upon Important Tenets.

All the Lutherans in the United States may become one body. At the meeting of the Evangelical Synod of Missouri yesterday it was decided to take in a general conference, to be probably held in Chicago this fall, to consider the union of all Lutherans. This will be the second conference of the kind to be held and will be devoted to pointing out a way for a general consolidation.

These officers were elected yesterday: President, Prof. A. W. Meyer of St. John's college, Winfield, Kan.; vice president, the Rev. W. Dallman, New York; secretary, the Rev. W. Wenchel, Boston; treasurer, A. E. Succop, Pittsburgh.

A number of recommendations made by President A. W. Meyer in his report on Wednesday were reported favorably by a committee appointed to inquire into the recommendations, and the report as a whole was accepted. The recommendations provide for the printing of ordination certificates, the issuing of a record book for churches and requiring the treasurers of colleges and societies directly responsible to synod to make a quarterly report and have their books audited annually.

The morning session was given up to a discussion of the parochial schools, and the evening session was devoted to an organ recital and concert arranged for the visitors' entertainment by the ladies of St. Andrew's church.

CHAUFFEURS ARE BUSY.

Owners of Automobiles Prepare for Races While Fighting for Park Privileges.

Owners of automobiles in Pittsburgh and Allegheny are wondering when the authorities will agree on chauffeurs' rights. Yesterday afternoon Director McElvain of the Allegheny department of public works decided to allow the machines to use the driveways of Riverview park, but will have policemen stationed along the highways to see that the rule limiting their speed is enforced.

The Pittsburgh Automobile club is making a vigorous fight to have automobiles recognized as regular vehicles and will insist that the new state law shall be liberally interpreted. The club will arrange its second meet for Highland park and will have a mile straight-away race in the boulevard near the Brilliant pumping station. The first meet of July 11 is the probable date. The selection of this date depends upon the condition of the track. Recent rains and heavy teaming along the new Pennsylvania railroad cutoff have damaged the roads, and some time will be required to place them in good repair.

National Educational Association Meeting, Boston, Mass.

In no case will tickets be accepted after September 1.

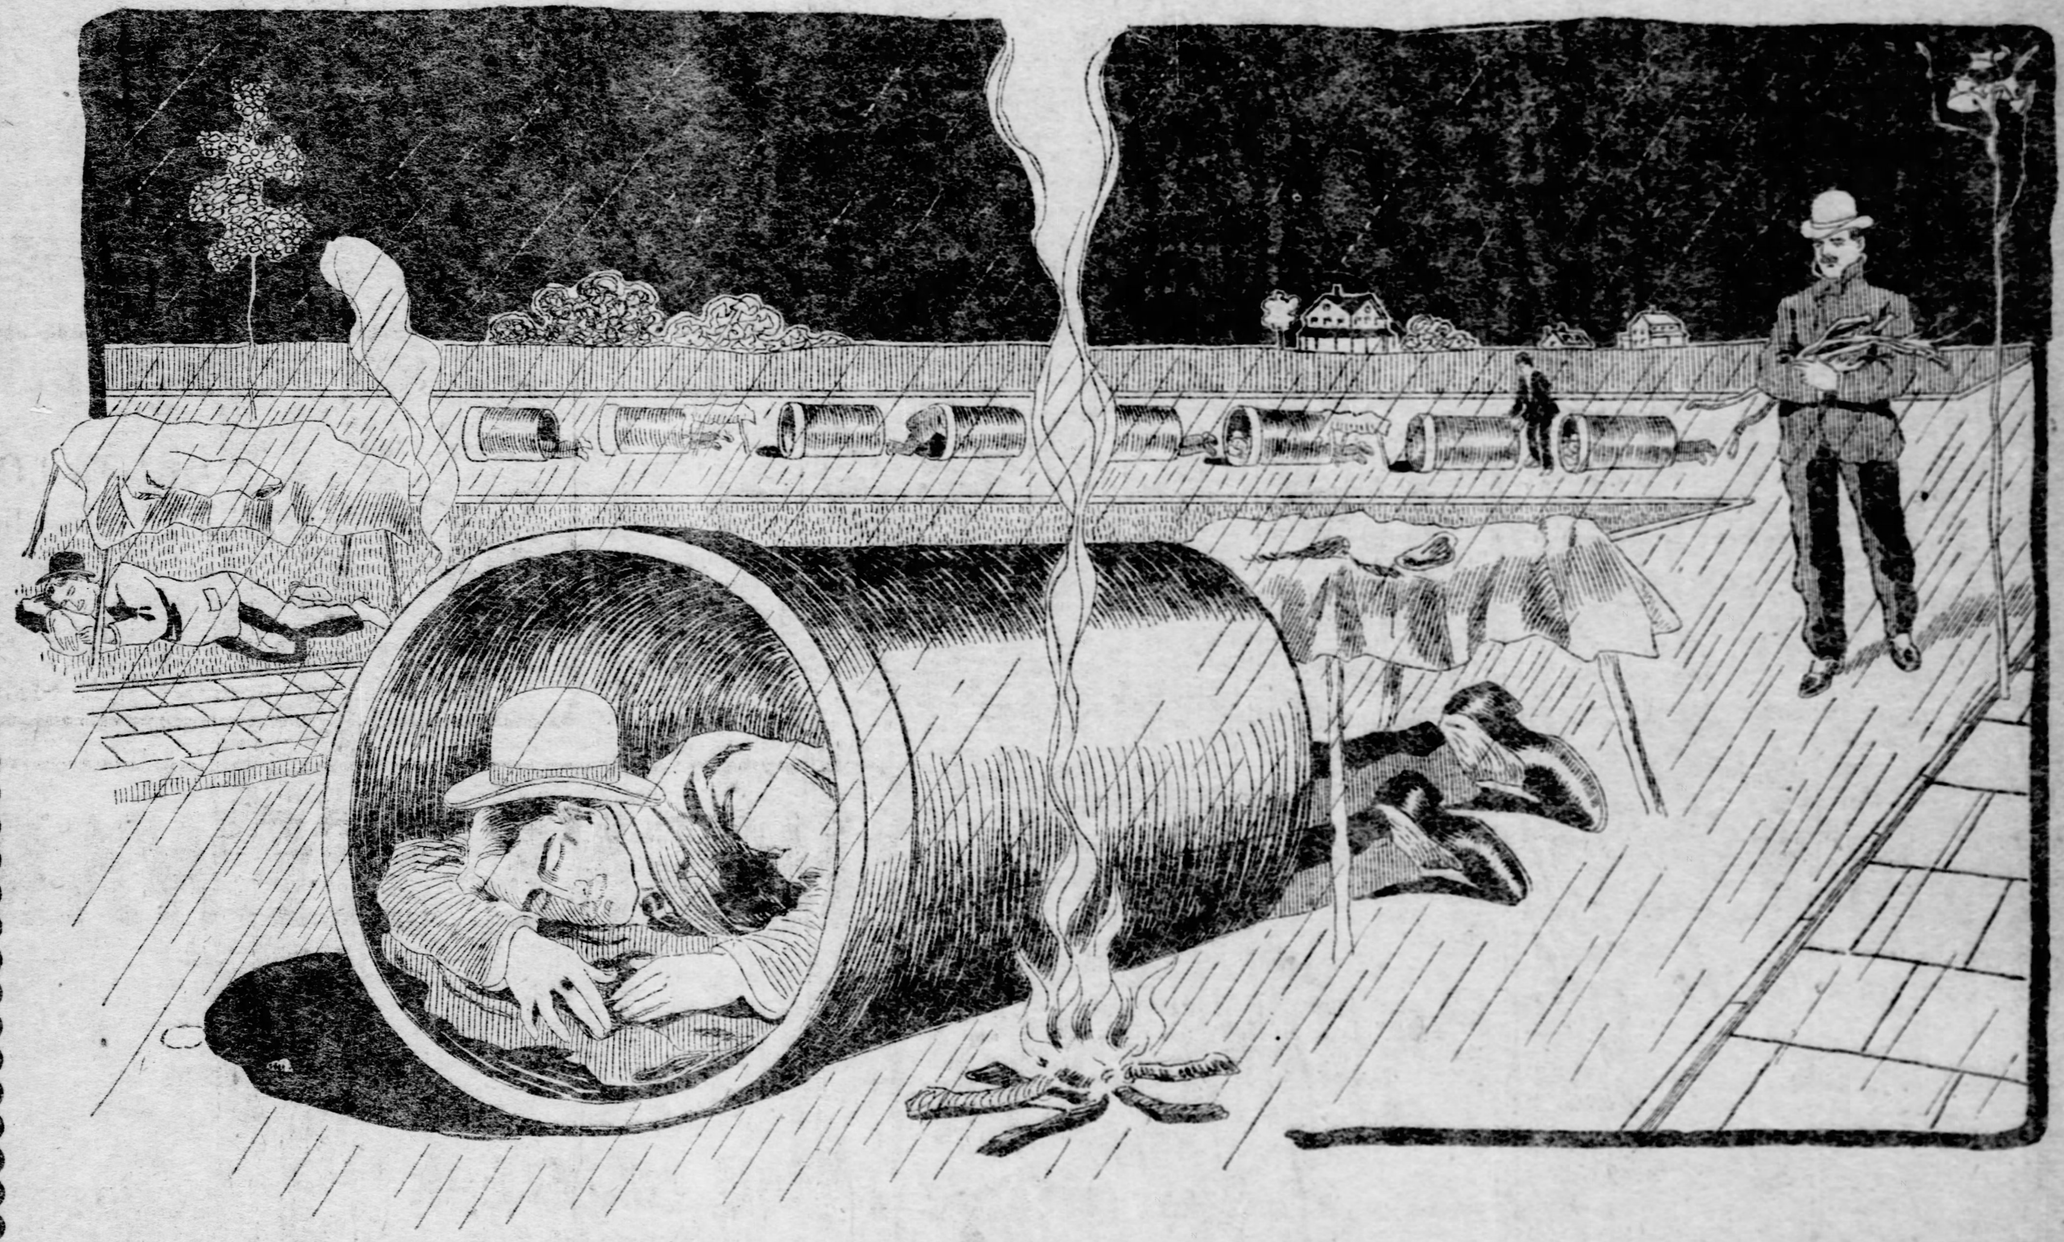
RAIN HAVING INTERFERED WITH LAST SATURDAY'S TREMENDOUSLY EXCITING OPENING OF THE WONDERFUL

ELECTRIC PLAN OF LOTS AT TURTLE CREEK

THE GREAT SALE WILL BE INAUGURATED TOMORROW

SATURDAY, JUNE 27th, 9:40 A. M.

This Will Give Passengers Leaving the Pittsburgh Union Depot on the 9 O'Clock Train Plenty of Time in Which to Reach Property Before Sale Starts.



THIS IS A SCENE SKETCHED FROM LIFE ON THE NIGHT PREVIOUS TO LAST SATURDAY'S GREAT SALE

Opportunity will be just as marvelous at next Saturday's great sale as it was at the great rain-drenched sale on last Saturday morning, when the brave army of water-soaked campers rushed in from the dying embers of their bonfires and planked down nearly $11,000 in cash, as first payments on $220,000 worth of the choicest property next to the greatest new electric industries that the world may ever see.

But human beings are not made exclusively of iron. There are some things which even simon-pure pluck-built mortals cannot endure for more than half a day; and that is a rain, which, not content with soaking one through and through, begins to wash off one's clothes.

This was the kind of a rain which poured down all day last Saturday at Turtle Creek, and drove away the last half of the dense, persevering multitudes who, with money in hand, tried in vain to push their way to the cashier's window.

You will, therefore, see that this CONTINUATION OF THE GREAT OPENING SALE TOMORROW is bound to be another climax-capping affair. If, of course, the weather man doesn't endeavor to break another record.

Fully half the lots on which the home-driven investors played "squatter sovereignty" have not been reopened until now. The work of retagging them for tomorrow's great sale has just been completed. The investors who pulled off the original tags and are perhaps still carrying these in their pockets, will not be recognized at cashier's window unless they present the new tags.

The re-tagging has been done with a view to treating everybody fairly and to keep the sale free from the tricks of speculators.

People who work in the Westinghouse industries appreciate the value of this great ground-floor opportunity and will be out early. But there are people who do not work in the Westinghouse industries just as anxious to make money as those who do. For their benefit we say that this sale holds out to them more than the ordinary lot sale does. It holds out an opportunity to you to purchase city-improved, sewered, paved and electric lighted property next door to a half-mile of new industries which are bound to increase the value of your investment at least 100 per cent in less than two years, because the Westinghouse Company now sees that the business waiting for these new industries will increase it own land values at least 300 per cent.

These are facts. The giant argument is too strong for doubt. When you pass your eyes over these towering new factories, stretching along in an unbroken line for half a mile, and then realize that you are looking at Westinghouse industries, destined to grow because the entire world cannot get enough of Westinghouse product, you stand convinced that this lot proposition is indeed no ordinary opportunity.

The sight is worth the trip and the prices and terms on the lots make the opportunity all the more fascinating.

Railroad fares will be refunded to purchasers living within 100 miles of Pittsburgh, and free train or car tickets will be furnished on application to our city agent, Mr. John E. Kane, 411 Keystone Bank Building, 324-4th Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.

GREAT CROWDS CHEER PONTIFF

Pope Holds Consistory, Believed by Many to Be His Last.

HE SHOWS MUCH FEEBLENESS

Attendants Seem Greatly Concerned for Him During Impressive Service—Name of Coadjutor Bishop Canevin Is Officially Announced.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ROME, June 25.—The public consistory, postponed from June 18, was held today with much pomp and additional interest and reverence, for in spite of the reassuring news concerning the pope's health many persons believed that this would be the last consistory under Leo XIII., and there was redoubled enthusiasm in the cries of "Long live Leo."

The pope looked a little more waxlike, and a little more bowed, his voice was somewhat thinner, and it was evident that his attendants were anxious.

The pontiff was borne in the sedia gestatoria by eight bearers clad in red brocade. They were flanked by the bearers of the famous flabelli, or feathered fans. The pope smiled while he blessed the crowds as he passed. In fact, at times he tried to rise so as to better impart his benediction, and it was only when he descended from the sedia gestatoria that his extreme weakness was apparent.

Following the pontiff came a gorgeous line of scarlet-clad cardinals, friars in various habits, priests and members of the papal court wearing velvet knee breeches and white ruffs. The church dignitaries were escorted by the noble, Swiss and palatine guards, which, with the Sistine choir chanting solemnly, formed an emotional picture.

Special tribunes were erected on both sides of the papal throne for the accommodation of the members of the diplomatic corps, the Knights of Malta, the Roman aristocracy, the family of the pope and relatives of the newly created cardinals.

Among the Americans present were Monsignor Kennedy, rector of the American college; Mgr. Farrelly, secretary of the American college and privy chamberlain to the pope; the Most Rev. Robert Seton, (formerly of Jersey City, N. J.) titular archbishop of Heliopolis, and the Rt. Rev. F. Z. Rooker, bishop of Jaro, Philippine Islands.

The ceremony was made as short as possible in order to lessen the pontiff's fatigue.

The pope sat on the throne facing the brocade-covered benches in the form of a square, on which the cardinals were seated. The new cardinals present, who were to receive the red hat from the pontiff, according to custom, first took the oath in the Sistine chapel and were then ushered into the Sale Regia, where they were greeted by the master of ceremonies. On approaching the pontiff the three cardinals knelt and kissed his feet and his hand, and the pope then gave them the double embrace. The new cardinals afterward embraced the other cardinals. Returning to the pontiff each of the new cardinals received from his hands a cardinal's hat.

The pope thereupon rose, bestowed the apostolic benediction, and, preceded by the pontifical cross and surrounded by the cardinals and his attendants, impressively retired. Subsequently the pope rejoined the cardinals in the Sistine chapel and the pontiff officially announced the new episcopal appointments, which have been previously announced from time to time.

The postulants, for Archbishop Farley, Monsignor Farrelly; for Archbishop Quigley, Monsignor Jacquemin, and for Bishop Orth, Father Descuffi of the Propaganda, then entered the hall and asked the pope to bestow the palliums on the prelates they represented, which was granted. They will be delivered tomorrow. The function ended with the pope giving the new cardinals their rings as princes of the church.

The episcopal announcements for America were: The Rt. Rev. George Montgomery, bishop of Los Angeles, Cal., to assume the position of coadjutor archbishop of San Francisco, Cal.; the Most Rev. John M. Farley, as archbishop of New York; the Most Rev. James E. Quigley, as archbishop of Chicago, the Rt. Rev. Henry Moeller, bishop of Columbus, as coadjutor archbishop of Cincinnati; the Rt. Rev. Bertram Orth, bishop of Victoria, B. C., archbishop of Vancouver; the Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Conaty, archbishop of Monterey, Cal.; the Rt. Rev. F. X. Rooker, as bishop of Jaro, Philippine Islands; the Rt. Rev. Dennis J. Dougherty, as bishop of Nueva Segovia, Philippine Islands; the Rt. Rev. Charles H. Colton, archbishop of Buffalo, N. Y.; the Rt. Rev. James J. Keane, archbishop of Cheyenne, Wyo.; the Rt. Rev. John W. Shortha, bishop of Lead, S. D.; the Rt. Rev. Charles J. O'Reilly, archbishop of Baker City, Ore.; the Rt. Rev. J. F. Regis Canevin, as coadjutor bishop of Pittsburgh, and the Rt. Rev. John J. Glennon, bishop of Kansas City, Mo., as coadjutor archbishop of St. Louis.

CONDUCTOR GOT TWO WEEKS OFF

Suspension from Duty Is the Penalty Imposed for Striking Trolley Passengers.

PROSECUTIONS TO FOLLOW

It is Charged That Second Avenue Employe Assaulted Two Men—Strap-Hangers' League Discovered an Emissary of the Railways Company.

Suspension from duty for a period of two weeks is the penalty enforced by the Pittsburgh Railway Company upon those employes who assault passengers. In other cities the charge would result in the instant dismissal of any man who would presume to offer humiliation to the patrons of the road. Yesterday a conductor on the Second avenue line was given a fortnight's vacation for striking John J. Tunney of No. 4737 Sylvan avenue, and for the alleged abuse of an aged man who was traveling on the same car. Prosecution will follow.

On Wednesday a number of cars were delayed on the Glenwood viaduct and four cars were returned to the Glenwood barn, while the passengers were transferred into a single car which was running ahead to the city. Some of the conductors neglected to give their passengers transfers when the people left their broken-down cars, and the conductor, it is said, insisted on collecting fare from all persons who did not have the necessary slips, although he had seen the crowd come direct from the other cars.

Mr. Tunney had no transfer and was about to leave his seat at his home in Hazelwood when the conductor demanded a fare. According to Mr. Tunney, he had just stepped down from the running board with his valise and was in the act of handing out the fare when the conductor bellowed out, "Oh, you're a cheap skate, anyhow."

"Almost at the same instant," said Mr. Tunney, "I received a blow in the cheek from the back of his hand as the car dashed ahead. James Murphy, a machinist, witnessed the assault, and accompanied me to the division superintendent's office, where I told of the treatment I had received. The man was suspended for two weeks. At the same time I learned that a short distance beyond the spot where I left the car the same conductor struck an aged man who was riding on the same car."

Harry Bulston of Homestead paid five pennies to Harry Ivory, a conductor on a Second avenue car yesterday. According to Bulston's statement, when he handed the conductor the five coppers the latter struck him in the face and knocked him off the car. He also alleges that Ivory and the motorman, Law Weldon, gave him a severe beating after he had been thrown off. Officer Dominick Laird of West Homestead placed the car crew under arrest and they will be given a hearing before Justice Walter Terrill today.

"If the company would discharge every man who uses abusive language, it would be far better for those men who aim to do their work in a meritorious manner," said an old employe of the Fifth avenue line. "Nobody deplores abusive treatment of passengers more than the rank and file of the conductors. We are compelled sometimes to take abuse, but the majority of the passengers are courteous and kind when the conductor attends to his business. No man who would presume to raise his hand against a passenger would be employed here if the old-time conductors would have their way."

The headquarters of the Strap-hangers' league in the Schmidt building will be closed on July 1, to be reopened August 1. During the summer months 30 organizers will be maintained in the field. Temporary headquarters will be maintained in room No. 23 in the same building. It is stated that a member of the executive committee stands accused of being employed by the Pittsburgh Railways Company and his resignation is demanded.

Never Without the Goods.

A prominent broker of New York, who is called upon to make a number of trips to Europe every year, always includes in his traveling paraphernalia a case of Red Raven Splits. When jested with upon this fact by his friends he took the matter quite seriously, and said: "While you young men may take Red Raven Splits before breakfast for too much eating and drinking the night before and to get rid of that dark-brown taste, I have always found the water an excellent alleviative for seasickness, and that feeling of fullness and lassitude that so often accompanies long journeys. I have never among the foreign bitter waters found an asperient that acts so surely and gently upon the liver, it being absolutely painless. I, therefore, take no chances, and carry Red Raven Splits with me wherever I go."

WITNESSES, SO IT IS SAID, CAN BE HAD FOR $10.

"Professional witnesses can be secured in this town for $10, who will testify to any story concocted for them, and they are making pots of money at the business." This remark was made yesterday by Justice George F. Pastre of Glassport, at the conclusion of a case in which one witness testified against a prisoner. The parties concerned are all foreigners, and the man accused of testifying falsely, Frank Pocioneych, is now in the county jail, charged with perjury. Justice Pastre says he is determined to break up the practice.

OFFICE BOY FINDS PLACE ON BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Russell Sage, President of Company, Objects to Usual $10 Meeting Fee.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 25.—Office boys have some power after all. This morning Russell Sage was late in reaching his office, so that when he arrived the day's work was pretty well mapped out.

"Good morning," said Col. Slocum, his brother-in-law.

"Good morning," replied Sage.

Slocum said it was dull and added:

"I thought we could take advantage of the dullness and hold a meeting of the board of directors of the Minnesota Land Company."

"The what?"

"The Minnesota Land Company."

"I thought Gov. Morton and I owned all those lands."

"There is a board of directors," ventured Mr. Slocum.

"Who are they?"

"Well, you are chairman; I am one; Osborne, the cashier, is another; Menges, the stenographer, is one, and the other is the office boy."

And having run over the list Slocum awaited the pleasure of the chairman.

"Well, call in the board and we will hold a meeting."

The financier went into his private room to prepare to meet his associate directors.

The office boy was the last to arrive. He looked abashed, smelled of cigarettes and tripped over the mat. There was a confirmed belief that he was done for.

The minutes were read and a motion made that a dividend be declared. There was silence. The office boy acutally relieved it by:

"I second the motion."

Slocum then announced that it was customary for members of the board to receive $10. The office boy exhibited one of those smiles that won't come off. Sage scowled.

"Pish," he said, "cut it to $2."

It was cut, and the erstwhile office boy-director went back to his corner.

CRUSHED UNDER A CAR.

Old Man and His Niece Victims of a Curious Accident.

Alexander Weatherspoon, 62 years old, of Whitaker, and Marion Lindsey, his 9-year-old niece, had a narrow escape from being crushed to death under a large open car being hauled on a wagon from the railroad depot to the barns of the Homestead and Mifflin Street Railway Company yesterday afternoon.

The wagon broke down on Eighth street, Homestead, and the car fell to the street, striking a buggy in which Weatherspoon and his niece were seated. The buggy was completely wrecked, and both occupants were thrown to the street and caught under the falling car and badly injured. They were released after considerable difficulty and found to be severely injured. Mr. Weatherspoon was suffering from a badly wrenched back and many bruises on the head and body and it is thought he is internally injured. The little girl had her left leg lacerated from the knee to her foot and she was injured on the back and head.

BUCK TAIL MONUMENT TO BE AT GETTYSBURG

Will Mark Spot Where First Commander, Col. Charles F. Taylor, Fell.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, June 25.—The Bucktails will mark with a handsome stone relief the spot where their brave leader, Col. Charles F. Taylor of West Chester, was killed in the battle of Gettysburg.

Col. E. A. Irvin of Carnegie, who succeeded Taylor in command of the Bucktails, suggested at today's reunion of these veterans that this tablet be erected, and a committee was immediately appointed to collect the necessary funds from the survivors of the regiment. The reunion was held in the court house and was attended by 126 Bucktails, 40 of whom were members of the original Viral Pennsylvania Rifles who came down the river on a raft, in command of Col. Thomas L. Kane, at the breaking out of the war.

A committee was appointed to report at the next annual meeting, which will be held at Lock Haven, to determine whether only the original Viral Rifles or those who were back with Taylor in the war are entitled to join the Bucktail association.

The election of officers resulted in the selection of Louis Hoover, Lock Haven, president; Henry C. White, Kennett Square, vice president; Col. Irvin, treasurer; William H. Ranck, Philadelphia, secretary, and Mrs. Ranck, assistant secretary.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—The champions winning streak was broken here today when after defeating the Phillies by the score of 4 to 3 in the first game, which required 10 innings, they were defeated in the second game 5 to 1. Doheny who pitched the first game, held Chief Zimmer's men down to 4 singles. Vail was in the box for the champions in the second game and did well for six innings. A home run drive by Titus in the seventh inning, with two men on bases broke Pittsburgh's winning streak, as they were unable to do any damage to Mitchell.

Beaumont opened the first game with a single to center, taking second on Roth's passed ball, and scored on Leach's single. Duffy was caught by Thomas, who also caught Wagner's hit after a hard run. A double play by Leach, Ritchey and Bransfield checked the Phillies in the second inning after Bransfield drew a pass. The Phillies scored in their half of the third on Gleason's single to left, which was the first hit off Doheny. The "Kid" took second on a sacrifice and scored on a wild throw by Doheny and passed ball by Phelps.

The champions scored two runs in the fifth. Phelps started off with a hit to left which Duffy allowed to roll foul but which Umpire Moran said was fair. Doheny drew a pass and both were advanced a base on Beaumont's sacrifice. Leach followed with a pretty single over Gleason's head and too far in for Keister to get, and both Phelps and Doheny scored, Clarke going to second on Keister's vain attempt to check the runners at the plate. Sebring and Wagner failed to advance, Clarke.

The Phillies scored in the sixth on Wagner's fumble of Thomas' grounder. Titus hit and Keister sacrificed. Neither side scored again until the tenth inning. Doheny opened with a single to center. He was advanced to second on Beaumont's sacrifice and was safe at third on Clarke's out. Sebring was too anxious to bring him home that he struck at a wide one and a pop foul resulted. Throwing his bat aside in disgust as Roth got under it he was given a life by Roth dropping the ball. Sebring struck powerfully at the next ball pitched. It struck high up on the centerfield screen and before Keister had fielded it Sebring was on third and Doheny on second. Wagner brought Sebring home with the winning run a moment later with a hit to Hulswitt that knocked him off his feet. The Phillies made a brave attempt to tie the lead, but were unsuccessful.

After 10 minutes' intermission the second game was begun. Mitchell, the Athletics' castoff, opposed Vail and held the champions down to five singles in as many innings. Pittsburgh did not put their usual dash and vim into the game, which resulted in a victory for the Phillies. Thomas, who had been on trial with the Phillies, won the game in the seventh inning with a home run drive over the right field wall into Broad street, with two men on the bases, after two outs had been called upon him. Pittsburgh players then for a few minutes went up in the air as the heat caused their downfall after they had won 15 straight victories. Pittsburg was unable to solve Mitchell's delivery when hits would have counted. The score:

PULLIAM PROTESTS.

Elberfeld's Transfer May Cause Another Baseball War Between Big Leagues.

NEW YORK, June 25.—President Pulliam of the National league has written to President Ban Johnson of the American league an open letter setting forth a protest of the New York National club against the transfer of Elberfeld with the New York Americans after he was awarded to the Detroit team under the peace agreement between the leagues.

President Pulliam characterizes this as a breach of the agreement, and the New York Nationals have asked of him the right to establish in the courts the validity of the contract with George Davis. President Pulliam holds that Elberfeld's case is identical with that of Delehanty and Davis of the Washington club, whose services were taken from the New York Nationals by the peace agreement, and when a protest against their playing by the New York Americans was filed by President Pulliam, President Johnson agreed it would be a friendship and a wrong.

President Pulliam says the spirit, if not the letter, of the agreement has been violated and notifies President Johnson that unless a protest against their playing be will allow the New York club to exercise its legal rights as to the services of Davis.

JOCKEY CLUB DEFIED BY "PITTSBURGH PHIL"

Was Advised to Dispose of His Stable, But Refused—Smathers to Buy Grand Opera.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 25.—It is possible in the case of "Pittsburgh Phil" that the Jockey club stewards will make a statement as to the reasons for its action in advising every association under its jurisdiction not to accept any more entries from his stable. One of the stewards was spoken to on the subject of issuing a statement, and he seemed to think that such action would be proper under the circumstances. This member of the board of stewards was asked the very pointed question whether there were any specific charges against "Pittsburgh Phil." "You may say this," said he, "that something like two years ago the stewards of the Jockey club did not think it healthy for the turf that a man should have under contract the best jockey in the country, or supposedly the best jockey, and only one or two horses in his stable, especially a man who was a recognized plunger and a very heavy bettor. Pittsburgh Phil was asked at the time to sell his horses and retire as an owner. He did not do so, and has been an owner ever since, and, it would seem, in defiance of the request then made to him."

George B. Smith (Pittsburgh Phil), whose entries were refused by the Jockey club on Tuesday, met Mr. E. E. Smathers, owner of McChesney, in Broadway today, and before they separated Smathers had practically bought Smith's Grand Opera for $8,000. Before closing the deal Smith said he wanted to talk with his brother, who trains the horse.

CORNELL THE CHOICE.

Ithacans Picked to Win the Big Race—Contests Will Be Close.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 25.—All the crews except the Wisconsin 'varsity were on this forenoon for a short time, but the practice was hardly more than a paddle, the coaches believing that it would be done for their respective crews is accomplished. Other than crews rowed down the two-mile stretch to Blue Point and then returned. The Columbia crews rowed the entire distance south of their boathouse, while Syracuse practiced on the neighboring waters. Georgetown rowed three miles, practicing some starts. The settled program for the races tomorrow afternoon is as follows:

Four o'clock, four-oared race, 2 miles, Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin; 4:30 o'clock, freshmen eight-oared race, 2 miles, Cornell, Columbia, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Syracuse; 5 o'clock, 'varsity eight-oared race, 4 miles, Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Wisconsin.

Chances of success in the various crews may be diagnosed as follows, from the expressions of opinions as given by the various coaches: Four-oared race—Pennsylvania should win, having made a time row of :26 over the two miles. Cornell will make a good fight, however. Wisconsin has a green crew rowing in a light boat and Columbia; Columbia does not expect to win.

Freshman race—Cornell is the favorite, with Syracuse and Columbia striving for second. O'Dea says Pennsylvania does not expect much from his crew, for it is ragged in work. Pennsylvania had a strong crew, but the removal of Drayton has crippled it.

'Varsity eight of one four-mile—Cornell is the favorite and Columbia and Wisconsin are second. Pennsylvania believes her crew will be well up in the line, while Syracuse thinks she can beat Georgetown.

VICTORIOUS CREW WELCOMED.

Old Eli's Sons Spent a Noisy Night Upon the College Campus.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., June 25.—The largest bonfire built on the Yale campus in years burned for three hours tonight in celebration of Yale's victories. The crews reached the city shortly after 6 o'clock and were taken through the streets to the campus on a four-horse tally-ho.

Bombs, firecrackers, Roman candles and torpedoes were exploded along along the line of march, which was somewhat lengthened in order to give the waiting crowds an opportunity to welcome the crews. After the men were individually cheered at Osborne hall they were given a banquet at which speeches were made by the Yale athletic leaders.

A fine program of literary selections was rendered by the graduates and good music delighted a large audience. There was no valedictory and no grouping of the graduates after the style of the old-time commencement, but all the principal members of the class had some part in recitation or costumette, the selections being given with scenic stage effects and picturesque costumes. The Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, delivered the address to the class and presented the diplomas.

Among the most interesting numbers on the program was a sketch by Miss Margaret M. Pettigrew and Miss Lulu M. Wilson, a scene from "Hamlet" by Miss Blanche N. Harlan, the quartet scene from "Julius Cæsar" by Sidney G. Hamilton and Francis G. Ebenau, and a pantomime, "The Flood of Years," by the entire class. The names of the graduates follow:

Eva Logue Bing, Helen Warren Miller, Josephine Loulis Jayne, Wade Hampton Bebee, Ida F. Peterson, Jessie S. Kettring, Francis G. Ebeman, A. L. L. Suhrie, La Verne G. Oggier, Edna F. Wells, Blanche Nassau Harlan, Lulu M. Wilson, Amy Harriet Swartz, Jude M. Miller, Ida Belle Schaefer, Margaret McPherson Pettigrew, Therese Wilson, Cecelia Farmer, Lillian Ethel Darrah, Beryl Ruth Ames, V. Claire Boerner, Lulu McFeat, Pearl Virginia Porter.

DAILY GAIN IN WEIGHT

Comes to Those who use Mi-o-na, Says Druggists Schilling Bros.' Co., Frankstown and Penn Aves.

The poor, thin, emaciated dyspeptic when he becomes plump, rosy and robust after using Mi-o-na, forgets that there is such a thing as indigestion.

Mi-o-na restores the digestive tract to a natural state of health so that it will take out of the food all of those elements which make solid bone, firm muscle, pure blood and sufficient fat to produce beautiful and symmetrical outlines of the figure.

Nine-tenths of all the sickness, of all the loss of flesh, began in some form of indigestion. Mi-o-na puts the entire digestive system in a healthy and vigorous condition. It is not an ordinary pepsin preparation, but has a direct action upon the digestive organs, removes every trace of inflammation and irritation, and enables them to extract from the food all that goes to make good blood, firm muscle, steady nerves, sound flesh and a healthy body.

Prompt relief and benefit is seen from the use of Mi-o-na, and in 98 cases out of every 100 a cure will certainly follow its faithful use. If it does not cure indigestion and dyspepsia, if it does not restore you to your proper weight, if it does not give you full vigor and vitality, Druggists Schilling Bros. Co. will return your money. You certainly can afford to try Mi-o-na on this guarantee.

Remember that Mi-o-na is the only medicine for the cure of dyspepsia that is sold under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction.

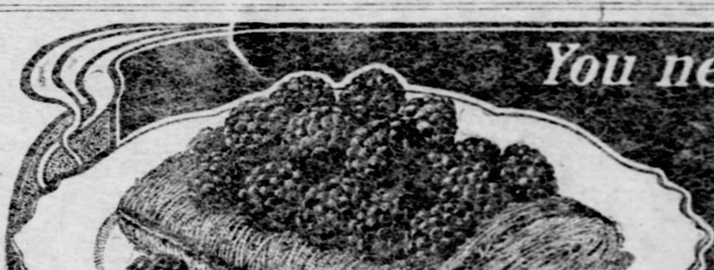
SHREDDED WHOLE WHEAT BISCUIT
Because it can be prepared in over 250 different ways



It is thoroughly cooked and ready for instant use

To Women Who Think

Dishes prepared with Shredded Wheat are not only attractive to the eye and pleasing to the palate—but appeal to the reason.

The great food conservatory in which it is made is sun-flooded through 30,000 lights of glass, coursed by filtered and uniformly tempered air and finished in white enamel. It is a purer and more hygienic place than the cleanest kitchen—a place where contamination cannot occur.

No other cereal food has as great a surface for the action of the digestive fluids as Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit. This is true because the wheat is not crushed into dense masses but spun out into porous shreds. These shreds are crisp and compel thorough mastication, which strengthens the teeth and insures complete digestion.

Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit perfectly nourishes the whole body and purifies the digestive tract.

Operators' and Miners' Conciliation Board Organized Yesterday.

THURSDAY SET FOR BUSINESS

Organization Was Effected Without Difficultly and It Was Decided to Admit President Mitchell as Miners' Representative—Rules Adopted.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)

WILKESBARRE, PA., June 25.—The miners and coal operators on the conciliation board met in harmonious relations today, adopted rules and adjourned to meet in this city next Thursday to hear the first of the grievances. The credentials presented by District Presidents Fahey, Nichols and Dettrey were satisfactory.

W. L. Connell, an operator of Scranton, was chosen president of the board and District President Nichols of the Mine Workers was made secretary. The rules which instruct Mine Workers and mine superintendents regarding the grievances were speedily arranged. Of the much mooted question of whether President Mitchell can represent the Mine Workers, Mr. Connell said:

"The miners may have any one they want to represent them."

The following rules were adopted to govern the method of procedure:

Rule 1—If any employe or body of employes have any grievance or complaint growing out of the interpretation of the awards of the anthracite coal strike commission or out of the application of said awards, or in any way growing out of the relations of employes and employers, said employe or employes directly interested shall present such grievance to the foreman directly in charge of the mine.

If there be a disagreement with the foreman, or a failure on the part of the foreman to satisfactorily adjust grievances, the employe or employes directly interested, or a committee of the same shall request an interview with the superintendent or manager of the mine or mines for the purpose of adjusting said grievance.

Each Must Give Proof.

In case of failure to arrive at a satisfactory adjustment of grievances, the employes shall present in writing such grievances to the member of the board of conciliation representing the district in which the mine or mines are located, stating fully the grievance which they desire to have adjusted and offering satisfactory proof that efforts have been made to arrive at an adjustment with the superintendent or manager of the mine or mines.

In case of a failure on the part of the superintendent or manager of the mine or mines to grant an interview with the employe or employes within 10 days, said employes may present in writing to the member of the board of conciliation representing their district proof that they have made reasonable efforts to secure such interview. In such case the board of conciliation or the members of the board representing said district will endeavor to secure for them an interview with the superintendent or manager of the mine or mines in question.

Rule 2—The board will act upon the grievances presented to them in accordance with the above rules by notifying the company or operator with whom such difficulty or disagreement may arise and requesting from him a statement setting forth his reasons for not adjusting such difficulty. After receiving such statement the board will, if necessary, at its discretion, request the presence of both parties to the disagreement for a full and complete hearing of the case.

In Reference to Strikes.

Rule 3—In case of any complaints or grievances which may arise on the part of the employers, the said employers having such grievance may present the same to the member of the board of conciliation representing the district in which said mine or mines are located, and the board will receive such complaints and call for a statement from the employes of said mine or mines, relative to the reasons for such complaint or disagreement, and if in its judgment such action is necessary, will invite both parties to the issue to be present for a hearing of the case.

Rule 4—Inasmuch as the anthracite coal strike commission, in their award, have provided that no suspension of work will take place pending the adjudication of any matter brought before the board for adjustment, and to the end that no strikes or lockouts shall be necessary, the board of conciliation will not take up and consider any question referred to it unless the employes shall remain at work, with the understanding that if the said board shall decide that the grievances are justifiable the adjustment shall be retroactive.

W. L. CONNELL, Chairman.
T. D. NICHOLLS, Secretary.

FIGHTING GRANT TO LAKE ERIE RAILROAD

McKeesport Council Meeting Tonight Expected to Prove Very Interesting.

A determined fight is to be made at a special meeting of McKeesport councils, this evening, by those opposing the Gould alley vacation ordinance in favor of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad. Councilman P. J. Murphy of common council, and David Rosenberg of select council have placed themselves on record as being in the fight to the end. They insist that the railroad company pay a fair sum for the ground. They argue that McKeesport has given the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad a franchise taking in one of the best thoroughfares of the city, the value of which is estimated by various real estate dealers at $1,000,000. It cost them nothing and still they charge that the company has failed to live up to the conditions imposed, so that the street is now wholly monopolized by the railroad.

A number of other councilmen have seconded Murphy's views since the ordinance was sent back to the committee for reconsideration, and a lively fight is expected.

DEMMEL ALL RIGHT.

Committee Finds He Is Good Detective, but Not Capable Superintendent.

The committee of councils on public safety yesterday afternoon agreed to recommend a resolution to terminate the lease of property owned by Booth & Flinn in the Thirteenth ward on which the city maintains a dog pound. Director Harry Moore said he had no place for the pound.

A petition of property holders in the Twenty-second ward for a fire engine house was laid over, and a petition to build a bath house on city property in Carson street, Thirteenth ward, referred to a committee of three.

The special committee on the charges against former Superintendent of Detectives Philip Demmel reported that the charges have not been sustained, except in the inefficiency. They found that while he was an efficient officer he was not a capable superintendent, and they recommended that the work of the bureau of detectives be so systematized that each employe be given an equal share of the work.

An Injunction Was Granted.

Judge F. H. Collier, sitting in common pleas court No. 1, yesterday granted an injunction order restraining the American Bill Posting Company from interfering with or posting on any bill boards controlled by the Pittsburgh Bill Posting Company.

Local Labor News.

The semi-annual election of officers of Salespeople assembly No. 4907, Knights of Labor, resulted as follows: Master workman, W. A. Walsh; worthy foreman, C. B. Hayes; recording secretary, S. L. Coleman; financial secretary, H. S. Howell; treasurer, I. Barnes and H. J. Blum; trustees, E. J. Barrett, H. J. Blum, C. B. Hayes, F. Boyd, D. B. Henderson, M. Gatheimer, S. Ressler and W. A. Walsh.

The officers of the Youngstown Iron, Sheet and Tube Company has signed the scale of the Amalgamated association with the exception of one set of rolls. The rolls contain improved machinery, and it was agreed to settle the price after the company makes an inventory, which will be made during the first two weeks of next month. If an agreement cannot be reached it will be submitted to arbitration.

The bricklayers have informed the stone cutters that they could not come to any arrangement with them until after the trouble between the bricklayers and stone masons has been settled. The stone cutters favored the stone masons during the trouble. The trouble will have to be settled after July 12, when the bricklayers and stone masons' decision will be rendered.

DO NOT TAKE LETTER OF VICAR SERIOUSLY

Pittsburgh Episcopal Rectors Express Themselves on Bishop Potter's English Criticism.

Pittsburgh Protestant Episcopal clergymen, interviewed yesterday on the letter written by the Rev. R. C. Fillingham, vicar of Hexton, England, to Bishop Henry C. Potter of New York, criticising as too strongly Roman the ceremonies of the New York Episcopal Church of St. Mary the Virgin, agreed in refusing to take the letter seriously. "The vaporings of some crank," said the Rev. Dr. A. W. Arundel, rector of Trinity. "Many persons do not draw a proper line between ritualism and merely high church services."

The Rev. Dr. J. H. McIlvaine of Calvary church, said that the canons of the Episcopal church allow wide liberty to the individual church in the conduct of its services.

The Rev. Henry Lancaster of St. Mark's said that high church doctrine insists upon a literal interpretation of the Book of Common Prayer, and that only in the high churches are followed out the strict rules in the book, universally accepted as the church's guide next to the Bible.

All agreed that there is no Protestant Episcopal church in this city that can be called ritualistic.

HEADACHE POWDER HELD NOT GUILTY

Mrs. Minnie Day of No. 2861 Jane street died at the South Side hospital last evening. She was admitted Wednesday evening. Mrs. Day on Wednesday was attacked with a severe headache. Her husband gave her a headache powder and shortly after Mrs. Day became worse. After her death last evening it was intimated that the headache powder quickened her end. Dr. A. J. Bradfield investigated the case. He, with other physicians, came to the conclusion that the woman died from natural causes and that the headache from which she suffered was a symptom of the attack that caused her death.

MONESSEN LITTLE BOY ALONE IN PITTSBURGH

Ralph Miller, 10 years old, who said his home is in Monessen, was sent to the Central station last night from the Union depot. He said he had been given permission to come to the city on Monday with some boys of his own age who live here, and that they ran away from him and he did not know where they live or what their names are. He had been sleeping in railroad cars ever since.

FAIR ADVOCATE FOR THE TWO YOUNG BOYS

Miss Montgomery Tells of Bad Influence That Caused the Lads to Get in Jail.

Francis Baker and Thomas Siegert, about 10 years old, were before Judge Marshall Brown during a brief session of the juvenile court, charged with entering an Oakland store. They have been confined in an apartment in the jail near the jail hospital for a day or two. Miss Alice P. Montgomery, probation officer, appeared with the boys and presented their case, explaining that both were working boys and ascribed their crime to the influence of a 17-year-old youth whom the police were unable to locate. Baker was given into the care of Mrs. Sullivan and Siegert into the care of a brother; both boys to remain under the direction of the probation officer.

THE DULLEST DAY IN WALL STREET

Stock Transactions Were Only 226,000 Shares and Fluctuations Were Narrow—Grain Markets Strong—Local Securities Stagnant.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Yesterday was the dullest day of the year in Wall street, the sales of stocks reaching only 226,000 shares, and the fluctuations in many leading issues being covered by less than a point. The dealings in bonds were equally light, footing up only about $2,000,000 par value, of which the bulk consisted of United States Steel 5s, which sold down to 81½, the lowest price quoted. There was nothing in the news gossip to stimulate speculation or investment, and the decline which set in at the close and carried values to the lowest of the day was due more to the disgust of the room-traders over the prevailing dullness and narrowness of the market than to any developments having a real bearing upon values. The selling of United States Steel new 5s was by the same house which was prominent as a seller the day before. Rumor again credited the movement to liquidation for account of an official regarding whose tenure of office has been a matter of public comment. There was certainly nothing in the state of the iron trade to cause the depression. All reports agree that there has been an important and decided change for the better in the tone of the iron market; that orders which were held back are coming in and accompanied with urgent requests for prompt delivery. There was nothing in railroad earnings to indicate any decrease in the distribution of commodities or reduction in earning power. The stagnation can not be ascribed to impending changes in the domestic situation, for the reason that foreign stock markets were equally dull. London prices were fractionally higher, and private advices were to the effect that foreign investors were accumulating more American stocks than appeared through the transactions of arbitrage brokers. Aside from United States Steel bonds, the only active feature during the day was Pennsylvania railroad, which made a new low record for the year by selling at 123¾. This selling was thought to be in the nature of a hedge against the purchase of rights. Dealings in the latter ceased with yesterday's transactions, and tomorrow the first payment on subscriptions falls due. One of the disappointments to the street was the collapse of the boom in Colorado Fuel & Iron. Evidently the market had discounted the formal announcement of the entrance of the Gould-Rockefeller interests into the company, and the stock declined from 69 to 66, closing at about the lowest. Amalgamated Copper also failed to sympathize with the advance in the metal in the London market. The close was extremely dull at the lowest prices of the day.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

In contrast to the stagnation in the stock market was the activity and excitement in the wheat market. The September option advanced to 79¾ and closed at the top. Corn was also strong and higher. The advance in grain was based upon weather reports. In the southwest, where harvesting is in progress, there were reports of rain, while in the northwest, where the spring wheat is in need of moisture, clear skies were reported. The leading trade authority also reported that the results of winter wheat harvesting were in some respects disappointing. Under ordinary conditions rising grain markets are usually followed by declining markets for railroad stocks. Yesterday, however, only the smallest fractional losses occurred in the grainger railroad stocks. This is the season of "weather" markets, when a cloud no larger than a man's hand—or its absence—may make or break the price of wheat. A little later it will be corn. It may be well, therefore, to keep in mind that the June report of the government indicated a yield of wheat exceeding 780,000,000 bushels, and that a reduction even of 100,000,000 bushels from this estimate would still leave a yield that would be as large as the average of recent years. The cotton market was also again very active, but was less excited than during the earlier part of the week.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

Notwithstanding the near approach of the semi-annual settlement period, and the large requirements of special financial transactions, the money market is entirely free from signs of disturbance. Yesterday the call loan rate remained unchanged at 2½ per cent, and time loan rates were slightly easier. If the requirements of the stock market remain as small as at present, the money market will not cause any uneasiness, no matter if the east is called upon to furnish the average amount of cash to move the crops. The Bank of England rate of discount remained unchanged at 3 per cent yesterday, and while the weekly return of the bank was not so good as last week, the percentage of reserve to liability is large, amounting to 51.62 per cent, against 53.14 per cent last week. In the Pittsburgh money market a slightly easier tendency was noted, and some new call loans were made at 5½ per cent.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday the transactions only slightly exceeded 2,000 shares, and except in the bank and trust company group, price changes were unimportant. The steel stocks were dull and only ⅛ to ¼ per cent lower. Philadelphia Company sold at 41⅝ and 41¾, and Manufacturers Light & Heat at 39¾. River Coal common was firmer, selling at 10⅝, and the preferred was quoted at 40½ to 40¾, the better tone being based upon the very successful run of coal to the south. Harbison-Walker common sold down to 8¾, a low point. National Fire Proofing common and preferred were also fractionally lower. There were no transactions in either Westinghouse Electric or Airbrake, and prices remained unchanged.

The feature of the bank group was the decline in Farmers Deposit National. The price was steadily offered down, but it was late in the session before the first sale took place. Then 30 shares changed hands at 1,690, followed by 1 shares at 1,685. The latter represented a drop of $65 a share from the record price last Saturday. At the close the stock was offered down to 1,670, and closed without bid. Colonial Trust sold unchanged at 550. American Trust did not change hands, but was nominally quoted at 490 bid, 500 asked. First National bank sold at 650, being a decline of $25 a share from the last previous sale. Home Trust was 3 per cent lower at 140, and Iron City Trust declined 2 per cent at 151. The rest of the list was unchanged. There was nothing doing in bonds, and prices were more or less nominal.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The decline in Farmers Deposit National bank yesterday attracted considerable attention. Last Saturday 100 shares of the stock sold at $1,750 a share. There have been no sales since then until yesterday, when 10 shares sold at $1,680 a share and five shares at $1,685, and the close of the market the stock was offered at $1,670, closing without bid. The latter represents a net decline of $80 a share in less than a week. There was a difference of opinion on change as to whether it was a natural reaction from the extraordinary advance of last week. It is a fact that a number of shrewd traders have been figuring upon the possibilities for making a turn in the market by selling American and Colonial Trust and buying Farmers Deposit. It has been announced that Farmers Deposit goes into the deal on the basis of 3½ shares of stock for 2 share Farmers. If Colonial goes into the deal 4 for 3 share, and American on the basis, say of ¾ of a share new stock for 1 share of American, there would be a profit in selling the two last named stocks and buying Farmers. For illustration: Colonial at $550, Wednesday's price, is equivalent to $1,825 for Farmers—provided always Colonial figures in the deal share for share. Traders who approached brokers with the view to attempting the market on this basis were confronted with two objections. One was the absence of any official statement as to the terms relating to American and Colonial, and the other was the narrowness of the market for all three stocks. It is street opinion that Farmers bank people would depreciate wild speculation in their stock, and the surest way to bring it to that end would be to have a few days of such wide fluctuations as witnessed yesterday.

Next Tuesday the directors of the Union Trust of Pittsburgh are scheduled to meet and declare a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent. This rate was agreed upon months ago when the new stock was sold at $2,000 a share, it being announced that an annual rate of 60 per cent would be paid on the entire capitalization, beginning with July, the dividends to be declared quarterly. Since it began the payment of dividends the annual rate has been maintained 65 per cent. The new rate will be the highest paid by any banking institution in Pennsylvania.

The First National bank of Verona has declared a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent.

Pittsburgh Oil and Gas was quoted yesterday at 75 bid. There was a report on the exchange that the company had struck an oil well on its property in Monroe county, O., which started to flow at the rate of 250 barrels a day. It was also stated that the nearest producing well was nearly two miles away, and that the company controlled the territory surrounding the strike.

The shipments of coal on the present rise is the largest ever made by the River Coal Company, and it is stated that the craft got away in better shape than ever before.

Harbison-Walker common sold at 10 and declined to 8¾, being offered at 9 at the close. This is the lowest price quoted since the listing of the stock. The weakness is due to the labor troubles, which reduced the output of the company.

Gross earnings of Canadian Pacific for the third week in June increased $75,847. Canadian Pacific for the same week increased $213,600.

A dispatch to the Charlotte (N. C.) Observer from Salisbury, under date of June 23, contains the following of interest in Pittsburgh: "Within the last few weeks, but more particularly within the last few days, a fortune has been taken out of the Barringer mine, near Misenheimer Springs, in Stanley county, by the Whitney Reduction Company of this city, which owns this and many other mining properties, six tons of ore containing an average of $2odoz a ton in gold have been taken out. The ore contains masses of almost pure gold as large as a man's fist. Capt. E. B. C. Hambly, president of the Whitney company, said that in a long and varied mining experience he had never seen such gold rich ore. And there may be a great deal more of it. The two-foot vein from which it was taken was first struck 60 feet underground and has been followed down to a depth of 100 feet, growing richer with the depth. How far further it goes is largely a matter of conjecture, but the indications point to a considerable continuance. Such results as these show what can be done by a powerful corporation, possessing ample capital and having nothing to do with the stock market. North Carolina mines have acquired an undeserved bad reputation because of their having fallen into the hands of stock gamblers in the vast majority of cases. The stock-jobbing scheme of exploded, whether with profit or loss to the promoters, before the mine had a fair chance. That this was the case as far back as 1850 is shown in that year's report of Professor Emmons. The Whitney Reduction Company has recently added to its list the Russell gold mine, in Montgomery county, near El Dorado. This mine produced great quantities of low grade ore. Together with the Barringer of this class it will be operated by electrical power from the Narrows when the Whitney company's power plant is completed."

The stockholders at the annual meeting adopted the following resolution: "Resolved, That the stockholders here assembled, representing holdings of more than two-thirds of the capital stock, denounce the action of A. M. drew H. McNeal and his unwarranted attack upon the credit of this corporation. We have full and perfect confidence in the management in the accuracy of the financial report as made by the audit committee and in the absolute financial soundness and strength of the corporation. The quick cash assets exceed the current accounts payable four times over and the name of the company is not upon a single discounted bill. The conservative policy of the management has been such that more than five dividends have been earned for each dividend declared. We urge the executive officers to vigorously defend McNeal's suit, not only for the purpose of winning it, but for the purpose of disclosing the malicious purposes which have inspired his conduct." The entire board of directors was re-elected for the ensuing year by unanimous vote.

It is estimated that the dividend and interest disbursements for July will exceed $150,000,000. The total for the month last year was about $140,000,000 and for 1901 about $110,000,000. July is the month when the heaviest payments for dividends and interest are made.

President Callaway of the American Locomotive Company gave out a statement to the effect that the company's gross earnings for the year ending June 30, with the results of June partly estimated, were $25,953,179, an increase of $6,465,537 as compared with last year.

The directors of the Pullman Palace Car Company declared a semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent on the preferred stock, payable July 15, and 1½ per cent on the common stock, payable August 15.

The Clinton Steel Company, subsidiary of the Crucible Steel Company of America, blew in the first of its three blast furnaces at Clinton on April 21, and the second on June 21. It is problematical when the third furnace will be blown in, for though nearly completed, it is being held back for the boiler makers' strike. Furnace 1 has been averaging from 450 to 500 tons a day the past week, and No. 2 has reached 450 tons. Within a week or two the two should be averaging over 1,000 tons a day. The steel plant is running full. As the company owns its own ore, the profit is over $5 per ton of pig iron, or $1,825,000 a year for the two blast furnaces when the present addition on Crucible stock requires $1,750,000 annually.

Bank Values of Local Banks.

Following shown the book values of all the banks and trust companies in Allegheny county, the figures being taken from a table compiled by R. J. Stoney, Jr., for the forthcoming number of The Banker. The figures taken in calculating the values of the national banks are from the statements for June 9, 1903, and for the banks and trust companies for May 28, 1903:

LOCAL COMPANY BUYS BIG FARM

Rabe Farm at Donora Purchased for $150,000, and Will Be Plotted.

A SALE OUT FIFTH AVENUE

Houses Sold in Allegheny and Belmar Place—Dilworth Warehouse Will Cost $40,000—Few Good New Houses on the Market.

The Monongahela Land Company, a new corporation composed of realty operators from Pittsburgh and Beaver, has bought the William Rabe farm at Donora for $150,000, or $1,000 an acre. The deal was closed yesterday, and plans have already been matured for plotting the property and putting it on the market in July. It consists of 150 acres located just to the south of Donora and lying between the town and the new street car line to Charleroi. Most of the property is level and admirably adapted for a lot plan, as it is near the big manufactories that will be in operation in Donora within a few months, and which will employ at least 10,000 men. The company will lay out the property in lots 30x100 feet each, with paved streets, sewer and water connections and sidewalks. There will be 1,500 lots in the whole plan, and they will sell at from $300 to $450 each. A subsidiary company is to be organized soon to build 50 or more houses. With the new blast furnaces and the open hearth furnaces that the Tinplate Steel corporation is building, and the new plant of the Oliver nail mill, which is being moved from the South Side to Donora, the demand for homes for workingmen is sure to be good for some time.

The officers of the purchasing company are C. M. Martin, president, and Arthur Wessel, treasurer, both of Pittsburgh; A. A. Duff, ex-treasurer of Beaver county, secretary; J. C. Martin, I. J. Martin and John S. Weller of Pittsburgh, directors.

Made $4,000 by the Sale.

Fred W. Kiefer, president of the Realty Investment Company of Pittsburgh yesterday sold Nos. 1707-1709 Fifth avenue for $36,500. The purchasers are M. Supowitz, a shoe merchant, and L. Sipp, and the deal was made through the Merchants & Savings and Trust Company. The property has a frontage of 40 feet on the north side of the avenue, near Van Braam street, and a depth of 90 feet, making the rate of sale $405 per foot. Both lots are fitted with three-story brick business blocks and the front of the lot and three dwellings stand in the rear. It is understood that there is a building plan on foot for the property. Mr. Kiefer bought the property two months ago for $32,500, so that the sale nets him $4,000.

Through the Union Realty Company Julia A. and James J. Medley sold to John H. French, Jr., No. 416 Anderson street, Fourth ward, Allegheny, for $14,000. The lot measures 22x185 feet, extending through to Scott street, and has erected on it a brick building containing 11 rooms and a store.

Belmar Place Houses Sold.

Six lots in Belmar place have been sold by the Penn Land Company, Inc., at Lane Clark for $24,150. They are on the south side of Hermitage street, near Lang avenue, and each measures 28x95 feet. The properties are improved with new 10-room reception hall brick houses.

Edward H. Baker has bought from the Keystone State Building and Loan association a residence property on the south side of Ellsworth avenue, near Roup street, Twentieth ward, for $12,500.

Mrs. Jennie E. Petticord sold to Isaac Jackson a brick house on a lot, 83x100 feet, on the north side of Penn avenue, near Seventeenth street, Tenth ward, for $16,000.

It is reported that an offer of $80,000 has been refused for the Nafzinger hotel, in Fifth avenue, McKeesport, by the owner, John Pierce. The property measures 56x175 feet on the north side of the avenue, between Market and Walnut streets. Several years ago Mr. Pierce had planned an additional to the hotel, to make it one of the best in the Monongahela valley. The property is now held at $100,000.

Architects Dean & Stophlet have awarded the contract for the Dilworth warehouse in Second avenue, below Smithfield street, to E. J. Grabowski. The building will be seven stories high, 90x80 feet in dimensions and built on the slow combustion plan. The total cost is estimated at $40,000.

There is a noticeable falling off in the number of small sales registered at the city hall the past two weeks which average from $10,000 to $20,000. Small sales still continue numerous, although many buyers of low-priced property have had their attention turned to lots in plans of late. In what are known as medium deals, which are mostly of residence property, the sudden drop is attributed chiefly to the fact that builders have stood idle until new houses ready for market and that old properties are occupied under a lease of one or more years. Where new and high-class houses are finished the owners are holding them at stiff prices and decline to make any concessions. In the East End district there is a good demand for such houses, but rather than rent them the owners are letting them stand idle until new buyers are ready to pay the price asked.

TWINS PUZZLE CLERK.

Each Appears as Witness for the Other in Naturalization Proceedings.

William T. Lindsay, clerk of the United States district court, was puzzled yesterday while making out papers for two men who applied for their full naturalization papers. Each appeared as witness for the other. The first man questioned replied that he was born in Ireland on April 22, 1875, and came to this country on September 3, 1892, and was a boiler maker. The other man gave the same answers, and Mr. Lindsay became suspicious and said:

"Say, what kind of a story is this you are telling? You each say that you were born at the same place, on the same day, came to this country on the same day and both in the same business. Now you come for naturalization papers and each is a witness for the other. Tell me about this."

"Well," said one, "we are twins."

The men are David M. Robinson and Joseph W. Robinson, of Allegheny.

FLOUR QUOTATIONS ADVANCED TEN CENTS

Oats and Corn Prices Higher. Tomato Supply Heavy—California Peaches Here.

Higher flour prices now prevail in the local market, the advance which had been expected, and which a few of the jobbers put in force on Wednesday, became general yesterday on receipt of advices from northwestern mills that quotations had moved to a higher range. The difference in prices over figures ruling at the first of the week amounts to 10 cents a barrel, wheat having advanced two cents a bushel. No other actual change in grocery quotations was made yesterday, but there is a continuance of the strong conditions which have ruled in the cereal food situation for several days, all the indications at this point toward further advances as not unlikely.

Jobbers are selling enormous quantities of canned goods for future delivery, in some lines there being a demand which is out of all proportion. Especially is this true of corn, for which prices are higher than they were two weeks ago.

Oats advanced two cents a bushel yesterday, all grades being affected by the upward movement, and the market is very strong at the advance. Corn is also much firmer, quotations having found a demand which is in excess of car and shelled. Local demand is good, though higher markets in the west for oats and corn have occasioned the forward movement here. Hay remains firm, prices for rare unchanged from those last quoted; receipts, while not containing a great deal of good hay, are nevertheless sufficient to care for the demand.

Another advance has occurred in old potato prices, unsold stock being very light and in the hands of a few holders. The season will be closed in another week, and there is every prospect that the market will be thoroughly cleaned up in that time. New potatoes are higher as old disappear, and prices went forward 25 cents a barrel yesterday. Receipts of new potatoes have been disappointing for several weeks and quotations are much higher than a week ago. Local receipts of new potatoes are out of the market and are no longer quoted. Cucumbers are less plentiful than at the beginning of the week, and quotations are higher. Parsley has gone lower. Lettuce is in limited supply and has advanced. Fresh tomatoes are coming forward in largely increased quantities and are a factor in the market at the lowest point of the season. The decline affects all kinds from Florida. Mississippi and Texas. Cantaloupes are lower. Georgia peaches are in the market and are selling all the way from $1 to $3 per box, according to quality, some of them being very poor. Pancies range as quoted. California peaches are coming forward and offer at $1.25 to $1.50 a box.

Spring chickens are not yet well grown and prices are unchanged from those of last week. Receipts are fairly large, but old fowls are scarce.

KAISER WILHELM KNOWS GOOD SHIP

Gives Full Praise to Kearsarge and Officers and Men Who Man Her.

THE INSPECTION IS THOROUGH

Emperor Especially Compliments Capt. Hemphill on His Knowledge of Vessel and Its Workings—Talks to Sailors in Their Quarters.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

KIEL, PRUSSIA, June 25.—"I shall telegraph to the president today, sirs, telling him in what perfect condition I have found your ship," said Emperor William in parting with Rear Admiral Cotton and Capt. Hemphill on board the American flagship Kearsarge today, after he had spent an hour and a half looking over the battleship as thoroughly as any naval inspector could have done, working the turrets, examining the quarters of the men, looking at the food in the galley and talking familiarly with some of the seamen.

The emperor came alongside the starboard quarter of the Kearsarge, steering his own barge and attended by his full suite. Admiral Cotton and the other American officers received the emperor on the quarter deck.

"I am happy to welcome your majesty on an American ship," said Admiral Cotton; "and I wish I were receiving you on American soil."

"I am very happy to be here," the emperor replied.

Captain Hemphill thereupon led the way with the emperor, Admiral Cotton following, with Secretary Von Tirpitz, the other American captains accompanying the members of his majesty's suite.

In calling the attention of one of the members of his suite to Captain Hemphill's service on the Monitor when she first went into action, and to some other fierce naval combats of the civil war, the emperor said:

"Those men are Gods to us."

While the emperor was inspecting the men's quarters he conversed with several of the blue jackets, and jokingly asked one old hand how long he had been in the service. The sailor replied:

"Twenty-four years."

"That is long enough to be an admiral," said the emperor.

The emperor received Ambassador Tower on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern immediately after returning from his inspection of the American flagship. He expressed to the ambassador his gratification over his experience on the Kearsarge.

"Captain Hemphill knows his business," said Emperor William. "He is a captain who understands his ship. He does not have to ask other people before answering questions."

The emperor gave a dinner tonight on the Hohenzollern to Admiral Cotton, the American captains, Ambassador Tower, United States Naval Attache Potts and all the other members of the United States embassy staff.

Admiral Cotton will entertain the emperor at breakfast on the Kearsarge on Saturday.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—President Roosevelt today received the following cablegram from Emperor William:

Kiel, June 25, 1903.

President of the United States, Washington:

On my arrival at Kiel I was saluted by a fine American squadron and had the pleasure of receiving Admiral Cotton and his captains. It was a very happy and kind inspiration on your part to send the squadron to Kiel for the week, and thanks to this fact I was able to inspect the magnificent flagship Kearsarge today, where I was able to compliment the captain on the exceptionally good state of efficiency and neatness of the ship and the fine appearance of his gallant crew.

With the expression of my warmest thanks I assure you that the squadron is warmly welcomed here and will, I trust, make an agreeable stay. Everybody will vie with each other to make them feel at home, in response to the kind and friendly reception of my brother by the citizens of the United States.

(Signed) WILLIAM I. R.

FRANKLYN FYLES IS NEARING DEATH

NEW YORK, June 25.—(Special.)—Franklin Fyles, journalist, author, dramatic critic and playwright, is dying at his home, No. 114 West Ninety-fourth street. Mr. Fyles will be remembered as joint author with David Belasco of "The Girl I Left Behind Me," which, after a long run in this country, was successfully produced in London. A week ago Mr. Fyles put the finishing touches on a dramatization of Miss Rives' "Hearts Courageous."

Farmer Tries Gas Route.

NEW YORK, June 25.—(Special.)—William Farmer made a determined effort to commit suicide today in the Hotel Montauk, Brooklyn. Farmer said in the police station that his failure to die was due chiefly to the fact that some cartridges he had would not fit his revolver. When he discovered this he turned on the gas, called for a Scotch highball, then tried to hang himself to the head of the bed with a towel. The waiter who carried the toddy found Farmer unconscious on the bed.

Preacher Charged with Forgery.

NEW YORK, June 25.—(Special.)—The Rev. Charles A. Alden was arraigned before Recorder Goff today on an indictment charging him with forgery in the second degree and he pleaded not guilty. Alden was secretary to John W. Keller, commissioner of public charities in the Van Wyck administration.

A Broker and His Son Drowned.

CLEVELAND, O., June 25.—Broker F. C. Prifer and his 13-year-old son, Harold, went rowing in Lake Erie Monday. Nothing has been heard of or seen of them since. Today the boat was found off shore a few miles east of this city. It was upside down and empty.
